

HARVARD-PRINCETON AND OTHER BIG COLLEGE GAMES

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 11.—A Tiger team of notable size and speed tried today to succeed where other Princeton teams had failed, matching football with the Harvard eleven in the Stadium. No Princeton combination has gained victory within the 'Crimson's athletic theatre.

Based on the season's showing, Princeton had a better record of performance. Harvard supporters, however, considered their eleven's remarkable development since its defeat by Tufts as outweighing the fact that Princeton had won every game of the year.

Before the game all indications were that the crowd would fill the regular stadium seats and overflow to the temporary wooden stands.

All looked for a close and brilliant struggle.

Princeton followers based their hopes on the fact that the team was a veteran combination with real offensive power and ability to develop an attack successfully.

The Harvard eleven was almost identical with that which routed Cornell in the face of the latter's expected victory two weeks ago. The probable lineup:

BIG RECEPTION TO PRES. WILSON AT ALBANY TONIGHT

Final Returns Give Wilson Plurality of 63 Votes in New Hampshire—No Change in Other Returns

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 11.—President Wilson ignored politics today to remain quietly with members of his family here. Several hundred telegrams congratulating him on his reelection arrived during the morning.

The president plans to leave here shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon by train for Rhinecliff, N. Y., where he will board the naval yacht Mayflower for a trip down the Hudson to New York city. He is due to arrive in Washington Sunday night.

President Wilson is not concerned over the refusal of the republican campaign managers to concede his reelection. The chief thing worrying him is the political complexion of the next house of representatives because of its effect on his plans for legislation. He has not yet received final information on this point.

After his return to Washington tomorrow the president will take up official business and in the near future will begin the preparation of his December message to congress.

The president took a short walk this morning. On his return trip tonight the president will be given a reception at Albany, N. Y. Democrats there have organized a parade in his honor and he may speak briefly from the observation platform of his private car.

NEW HAMPSHIRE BY 63 VOTES

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 11.—President Wilson received a plurality of 63 votes over Charles E. Hughes in New Hampshire, according to certified returns from all except one small precinct made public by Secretary of State Bean today. In arriving at this figure Mr. Bean announced that he had included in the Wilson total 259 votes cast for him in ward 2, Dover, but omitted through error from the certified returns and by accepting as probably correct the newspaper returns from Dorchester, the missing precinct which had not reported officially.

The newspaper returns from Dorchester gave Hughes 31 and Wilson 18. Party leaders said there was no reason to question these figures although the election managers in that precinct were instructed to expedite their report.

MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 11.—3019 precincts out of 3048 in Minnesota gave Wilson 177,658; Hughes 178,395; Hughes plurality 647.

THE POPULAR VOTE

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—With Republican National Chairman Wilcox still awaiting the official count in close states before conceding the defeat of Charles E. Hughes in the national election, the latest returns today in the close states of California, Minnesota and New Mexico still presented on their face no change affecting the president's majority in the electoral college.

Mr. Wilson still led in California and New Mexico and Mr. Hughes in Minnesota with only a few districts yet to be accounted for in each state.

President Wilson in Williamstown, Mass., was reported to be chiefly concerned over the complexion of the next congress which was still in doubt today.

The president's plurality over Mr. Hughes in the popular vote, according to the latest estimates based upon incomplete returns is 403,312. His total vote was 5,563,713 and that of Mr. Hughes 5,160,401.

BUSINESS MEN OWE FOR BOILER INSPECTION

Edward A. Mores, boiler inspector and examiner of engines, appeared before Judge Enright this morning and requested that warrants be issued for the arrest of some 25 or 30 persons who had either neglected or refused to pay for inspection of their boilers. According to the law all boilers must be examined or inspected annually, and a fee of $2.00 is charged for external inspection and $5 for internal examination.

Judge Enright advised Mr. Mores to wait for a week in order that the delinquents might have a chance to pay the bills and the latter was willing.

Among the names submitted by Mr. Mores are prominent business-men of this city. At the opening of court this morning Judge Enright announced that he had informed the press of the request for warrants and said inasmuch as he did not want to use drastic measures he would give the delinquents a week in which to pay but if at the end of that time they failed to do so he would issue the warrants.

The minimum penalty in case of a finding of guilty is $25 and the maximum, $500. The law relative to

STATE INSPECTOR MAY HALE GARAGE OWNERS INTO COURT

That there are many owners of garages in Lowell who have not complied with the law and who may be brought to court immediately in consequence of the statement of Mr. Griffin, state inspector of garages, who came to Lowell yesterday and was not at all satisfied with conditions.

State Inspector Griffin had a conference with Chief Saunders of the fire department and members of the municipal council, and he told them of some of his findings. He found that several residents had erected garages without getting a license, and thinks that the custom has been widespread. In some cases men have petitioned for garages and gasoline licenses long after the buildings have been erected and in use. He notified three Lowell citizens to report immediately to the authorities, but up to noon today they had not done so. He found one man putting a garage into the basement of his house without any authorization.

The state inspector said that he will return to Lowell in a few days and Continued on page two

LOWELL MAN WHO LIVED IN MEXICO IS VISITING RELATIVES HERE

Fred H. Manning has returned to Lowell after an absence of a dozen years or more spent in Mexico and Arizona and he talks very interestingly of affairs in Mexico, where he lived until about two years ago. He was in Mexico City in February, 1913, when Francisco Madero and Jose Maria Pino Suarez, deposed president and vice president of the republic, were shot.

Mr. Manning was employed as inspector of bridges and masonry by the National railroad in Mexico, and the revolution terminated his services. He had a ranch in the northern part of Mexico and wasn't worrying the least little bit about the future when along came Villa and his men and took possession of the ranch, firing the buildings and stealing horses and everything in sight. Then it was up to Mr. Manning to do something and he decided to go to Mexico City. It was a long journey and not a very safe one. He was accompanied by his wife and succeeded in reaching Mexico City after several days' travel that were not without their hardships and disappointments.

Little did he think that he had entered the city that was later to be the scene of the most riotous events of the revolution. He says that while there was no great feeling of security the times were very exciting and there was that element of danger so fascinating to the average human being.

American Intervention

Mr. Manning firmly believes that the only cure for Mexico's trouble is American intervention in that country. He says that the better class of Mexicans are praying for the dawn of the day when the United States will step in and settle affairs for good and for all. He does not believe that Carranza will ever be able to stay the revolutionary tide. He believes Carranza to be a good and able man and that he has been blamed for many things for which he was not responsible. He says that Villa is the biggest coward in Mexico despite all that may be said to the contrary. Villa never enters a town until his men have taken it. His followers, Mr. Manning says, are the lowest grade people in the country. Villa has a bodyguard with him at all times and is brutal with the rank and file of his followers. He says that Villa's strongest characteristic is his cunning. He does not look for his capture under present conditions, and says it is a well established fact in Mexico that no man in that country is as well acquainted with the mountains in the northern part as is Villa.

The Killing of Madero

Mr. Manning says that about the wildest time he ever witnessed anywhere was in the city of Mexico when Madero and Suarez were slain. A group of friends attempted to rescue them from the guard which was transferring them from the national palace to the penitentiary in automobiles. During the fight members of the attacking party as well as the prisoners were killed. Mr. Manning has several copies of the Mexican Herald, a paper published in the city of Mexico, in which there appears some very interesting news of the revolution.

Directly after the killing of Madero, Gen. Victoriano Huerta issued a manifesto to the nation in which he stated that he would not hesitate an instant in adopting "the measures of rigor" that may be necessary for the rapid restoration of public peace. The welfare of our country demands it.

Taft Wouldn't Intervene

In the issue of the paper containing Huerta's manifesto there appears an article stating that President Taft had said in New York that he was just as much opposed to intervention as he had been during the last two years.

A later paper tells of a meeting of the Society of the American colony in Mexico City at which resolutions were adopted commending the work of Ambassador Wilson and others for "valuable and unselfish service rendered during the ten days so fraught with danger and tribulation."

There is no one who believes any more strongly in Mexico's splendid possibilities than does Mr. Manning, but development of the country's resources can only come, he thinks, through the intervention of the United States. He believes that will come sooner or later and that it will not be attended by fierce fighting. He thinks that the wishes of the better element will prevail and that a thorough understanding will be arrived at through the medium of this country without the danger of long drawn out battle.

Arizona Gold Mines

Mr. Manning came here from Arizona, where he has gold mines that he believes will pan out pretty well. He stopped some time in Vermont and then came on to Lowell. He thinks pretty well of Arizona, its climate, etc., but is willing to admit that Massachusetts is all right and he likes Lowell better than any city he was ever in. He is a brother of Robert Manning, manager of the Waverly hotel. Mr. Manning and his wife are stopping with his mother in Chelmsford st.

BOARD OF TRADE GETS AFTER THE BAY STATE

Secretary John H. Murphy of the board of trade has written to H. E. Farrington, superintendent of the local division of the Bay State Street Railway, protesting against a curtailment in the car service on Westford street and other lines. It is said that the schedule on the Westford street line has been rearranged, cutting down the service considerably. Secretary Murphy says that 15 minutes running time is in effect on Westford street part of the day and he asks that the former schedule calling for 10 and 12 minute time be reinstated. He contends that the riding is much heavier in the winter than in the summer and that a curtailment at this time means unsatisfactory service.

MEXICO WOULD SUPPORT UNITED STATES IN EVENT OF WAR

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 11.—In the event of war between the United States and any other nation outside of America, Mexico understands that her attitude must be one of complete solidarity with the United States, said Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican section of the American and Mexican joint commission, in an address here last night. He was speaking before the American academy of political and social science and the Pennsylvania arbitration and peace society, who had as their guests of honor the members of the American and Mexican joint commission.

Dr. L. S. Rowe, president of the academy and secretary of the commission, opened the meeting, declaring in his welcoming address that in the conduct of international relations, the United States must stand for new and higher standards, with jealousy and distrust giving way to frankness, helpfulness and co-operation. "If there is any one mission," he said, "which the privileged positions of the United States calls upon her to perform, it is to sound a new note in international intercourse."

Mr. Cabrera, who, in addition to being chairman of the Mexican section of the commission, is the minister of finance under the Carranza government, discussed the ideals and purposes of the Mexican revolution from a purely scientific viewpoint, but in conclusion he referred to the international situation. He said:

"The main political international problem of Mexico consists of her relations with the United States. After the war of 1847, which cost Mexico half of her territory, Mexicans have not been able to regain confidence in regard to the imperialistic tendency that the Latin-American countries attribute to the United States. During the Mexican revolution, after the occupation of Vera Cruz and the Columbus expedition, the United States increased considerably, chiefly since it is known that one of the political parties of the United States frankly advocates intervention. The repeated and public statements of non-intervention made by the democratic government of the United States have not been sufficient to allay the fears of the Mexicans."

"As a neighbor of the United States, Mexico will also have as an international problem the danger of a conflict between the United States and some other European or Asiatic power. The foes of the United States, that are always foes of the whole American continent, will certainly assume to be friends of Mexico, and will try to take advantage of any sort of resentment, feeling or distrust that Mexico may have against the United States."

"Mexico, nevertheless, understands that in case of a conflict between the United States and any other nation outside of America, her attitude must be one of complete continental solidarity. From this viewpoint, the revolutionary government has followed a policy of frankness and consistency in her relations with the United States, putting always her deeds in accordance with her words, and sincerely trying to reach an understanding with the people and the government of the United States."

"Within Mexico, the real international problem means the protection of foreign life and property and the condition of foreigners in regard to natives. On account of the non-enforcement of the political and civil laws in favor of Mexicans and on account of the always diplomatic protection that foreigners have enjoyed, a sort of privileged condition has arisen little by little in favor of foreigners. Mexico has the problem of equalizing the conditions of Mexicans and foreigners, not by lowering foreigners, but by raising the condition of natives."

The privileged condition of foreigners that has existed in Mexico for a long time has produced a certain jealousy and distrust with which Mexicans look upon the increase of immigration and foreign investments in Mexico, since such increase would be considered as the strengthening of a privileged class.

"The problem for Mexico is to find the way in which foreign money and immigrants can freely come to Mexico and contribute to her progress without becoming a privileged class, that is to say, that instead of becoming a growing menace to the sovereignty of Mexico, will contribute to the consolidation of her sovereignty and independence as a nation."

prosecute those who have not observed the law. The legal procedure for the proper erection of a garage is for the petitioner to get a permit from the chief of the fire department, and to take the matter up with the commissioner under whom the matter comes. At the present time Commissioner Putnam receives these petitions and presents them to the municipal council at regular meetings.

The time for the offense is $50, and it was said at city hall that Mr. Griffin was very much in earnest when he threatened to bring action against negligent residents of this city.

Street Railway Check

The following is the copy of a rather "touching" letter sent by Mayor O'Donnell recently to the president of the Bay State Street Railway Co.:

Nov. 3, 1916.

P. F. Sullivan, President,
81 State Street,
Boston, Mass.

My dear Mr. Sullivan:

The city of Lowell is about to complete the construction of a new concrete bridge over the Merrimack river at Pawtucket falls. May I expect at an early date the Bay State check for $5000 as a contribution towards the cost of the new bridge?

Very respectfully,
James E. O'Donnell,
Mayor of Lowell.

A favorable reply has been received from President Sullivan stating that the check will be forthcoming in a short time.

Mortality of City

The weekly statistics of the board of health show that the death toll is rather high, being 41 as compared with 22 and 33 respectively for the past two weeks. There is an increase also in the number of cases of measles reported, last week's total being 3, as compared with 2 this week. Following is the condensed report:

Black Paving Salt

The suit of Frank A. Mallory vs. the city of Lowell, relative to 20,000 paving blocks for which Mr. Mallory claims the city still owes him, was put on trial next week before James E. OLD BARGE TO APPEAR AGAIN UNDER SAIL

THE HARVARD BROUGHT BACK AS RESULT OF GREAT DEMAND FOR OCEAN TONNAGE

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The barge Harvard, formerly a square rigged sailing ship from this port to many seas but for ten years reduced to stub masts in the coal carrying trade, will at last under sail again as a barge, as a result of the great demand for ocean tonnage. The Harvard was bought today by a local shipbuilding firm at a price almost as great as the cost to build her at Brunswick, Me., 22 years ago. As the ship Sam Skifford 2nd, the Harvard was taken into Philadelphia 10 years ago under jury rig almost a floating wreck after experiences that brought high praise for her skipper's seamanship.

to call on Charles E. Hughes during the day.

Chairman Vance C. McCormick of the democratic national committee led today for his home in Harrisburg, Pa., and with the exception of a small office kept open for the handling of mail democratic headquarters were closed. They will soon be transferred to Washington.

Later Chairman Wilcox gave out this statement:

"The national committee is not raising the cry of fraud nor is it going out searching for fraud. We have received many numbers of communications, signed and unsigned by telegraph, letter and by telephone alleging fraud, from all parts of the country, but in all cases the communications are referred back by us to state officials for investigation."

"The national committee is simply in the same position as state officials who are waiting for the result of the official count and whose duty it is to certify which electors have been chosen."

NEW MEXICO

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 11.—President Wilson led Charles D. Hughes in the unofficial New Mexico returns early today, 2181 votes with 39 of the 638 precincts missing. These precincts were small, and widely scattered.

Late returns on congressman gave Walton (dem.) a lead of 1776 in 542 precincts. For senator, A. A. Jones (dem.) had a lead of 2685 with 60 precincts missing.

In the gubernatorial race De Baen (dem.) led Burrage (rep.) by 1050 votes with 118 precincts not reported.

CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 11.—Analysis by democratic leaders today of the popular presidential vote in San Francisco failed to give much encouragement to the claim of the republican central committee that a split electoral vote would result from scattering of democratic electors.

In this city the low democratic vote, Mrs. Carrie L. Tyler, received 77,339 votes, only 411 behind Francis J. Heney, high, with 78,211. If the same ratio should be maintained throughout the state, it was said, Mrs. Tyler would be approximately 2466 votes behind the head of her party. The present democratic plurality, however, is 2778, leaving the republicans approximately 500 short of even one elector.

Louis E. Clark, low republican elector, ran 242 votes behind Britton, high, with 62,150 votes in San Francisco.

Eighteen precincts were still missing early today from the state total of 5570 with the possibility that unofficial state count would not be complete before the official canvass, which begins Monday.

Unofficial returns show both anti-labor amendments decisively beaten, although managers of the dry campaign refuse to concede this as yet.

MAINE RETURNS COMPLETE

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 11.—The Maine returns of the election were finally completed today when word from Long Island plantation in Hancock county reached the mainland that Charles E. Hughes had 15 and President Wilson 4 votes. The totals were 65,504 for Hughes and 64,154 for Wilson, the former's plurality being 5350, according to the unofficial tabulation.

THINGS THAT HAPPENED IN POLICE COURT

When Armand Robillard appeared in police court the other day charged with the larceny of $24 in money from Hermenegildo Paradis he said that the $20 which he had displayed was part of pay he had received at the U. S. Cartridge shop. An investigation was made and it was found that he had never worked at the Cartridge shop. His mother, however, said she would make restitution and on that condition Robillard was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

Liquor Cases

Bartholomew Croteau was charged with the illegal sale of liquor and upon entering a plea of guilty a fine of $50 was imposed. The case of illegal keeping preferred against him was dismissed.

Alfred P. Flagg was charged with the unlawful sale of liquor but owing to lack of evidence the case was dismissed.

Drunken Offenders

Thomas E. McCreesean pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk in a public place last night. Patrolmen Leoney and Wilm testified that the man was staggering through the street and was given a chance to go home and upon refusing to do so he was placed under arrest. He was found guilty and sentenced to three months in jail. He entered an appeal.

Cornelius Leary was fined $15 and John O'Donnell was given a suspended sentence to the state farm. Leslie Curtis was sentenced to one month in jail. William Oswald was handed a suspended sentence to the state farm. Seven simple drunks were released by the probation officer.

His Seventh Appearance

Napoleon Charest made his seventh appearance before the court within a year. He is just after completing a four months' sentence in jail and while at that place was examined as to his sanity. Although he receives $18 a week when working, when a fine of $15 was imposed he asked the court to give him six months in which to pay it. He was told that he would have to pay the fine within a month.

Larkin Trull of 732 Andover street, this city, was seriously injured yesterday when he was struck by a wagon attached to a runaway horse on Oak street, Lawrence. He is now in a Methuen hospital resting as comfortably as can be expected. It is said that his hip is fractured.

Trull had a box on his shoulder and failed to heed the cries of several bystanders who wanted him to get out of the way. He was struck by one of the wheels and knocked down. An automobile was secured and he was rushed to the hospital.

ST. LOUIS' CHURCH

Although work on the construction of the new St. Louis' church is progressing rapidly, the pastor, Rev. J. H. Labossiere, stated this morning, the church will not be opened for service until Easter.

The new church, only the basement of which will be erected this year, will cost about $35,000 and it is expected when the building is finished it will be paid for. All the church organizations are much interested in the church fund and they take turns in conducting socials for its benefit. The next to be given which will be in the form of a whist, will be on Nov. 22 at the school hall and under the auspices of St. Anne's sodality.

Under the auspices of the home-economics department of the Middlesex women's club, a conference was held in Colonial hall yesterday afternoon which brought out advanced views on topics of timely interest.

Mrs. Schuyler Herron, state chairman presided and presented the subject "System and Simplicity in Household Management." She urged the club women to send for the bulletins of the agricultural department at Washington and also advised university extension courses in home economics under the state board of education.

Miss Agnes Dunham of the Garland school of Home Making spoke of the planning of menus. She explained her system which provided for variety while respecting economy. Later in the meeting she spoke again this time on the work of the Garland school.

Mrs. Alice H. Dresser expert in household administration, spoke of home making in the modern sense as a profession, and advised that all should train themselves in its various branches.

Mrs. Herron in a complimentary vein referred to the work in Lowell and described the chairman of the Middlesex Women's club home economics department, Miss Helen Jackson, as the youngest chairman of this department in the state. THE CONVENIENT BAG

"Yes it is pretty," agreed Marie, "but it will be," she continued "when I have finished with it." Every woman owes to own a handy bag and one easily be made from scraps left over from a velvet suit or satin gown. From these she can fashion a necessary and always charming receptacle for coins, bills, handkerchief, or accessories, also, wishes to include

Of course such a bag must be long and narrow and a very pretty one may be made of the same material as the evening gown itself with silk or satin. A silk cord or ribbon is run through the casing at top to fasten it, and the bottom rounded and edged with an edge of velvet or fur."

THE DISORDERED HOME

No excuses are made for the atrocious housekeeper who neglects a wife and mother, for it is her woman's business to know how to keep a home.

BEHOLD THE QUADRENNIAL "NUTS," PAYING THEIR FREAK ELECTION BETS

A black and white photograph showing a woman in a dark dress and white scarf standing next to a man in a suit and hat who is bowing low to the ground. The scene is outdoors on a city street. The woman is smiling and looking towards the camera. The man is bowing deeply, with his head touching the ground. In the background, other people and buildings are visible. The image has a grainy, high-contrast quality typical of old newspaper prints.

When the election returns seemed to indicate with certainty the reelection of President Wilson, the usual aftermath of a presidential election, the paying of freak election bets, showed itself on the streets of the large cities. The profane and vulgar crowd, the fellow with the front inside out, the man in the hawthorn, the "nutt" wearing a harel, the one who voted for the wrong man and proclaimed that fact with voice and placard—all these and many more varieties appeared in all their foolishness. Of course women were not to be seen in this throng. The fellow shown in the picture, donned a white stocking and a black one and paraded Broadway, New York, telling everyone, according to the terms of his wager, to let passersby get a glimpse of him. The man in the picture is trying to blacken his name by wearing a filthy black. He has turned coat inside out and has donned a deer cap.

THE DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

The republicans are holding out against hope that they can find some ground for claiming the election of Mr. Hughes or for contesting the election of President Wilson. They are waiting for official and certified returns. That is all right. Nobody wants to deprive Mr. Hughes of what belongs to him in this election.

There are some intimations of fraud, especially at Los Angeles, Cal., but if any fraud has been attempted, we venture to say it was in an effort to turn the tide in favor of Mr. Hughes. In the case mentioned it is reported that returns from outlying districts were received with seals broken and in face of a general trend to Wilson, these particular precincts gave big pluralities for Hughes.

The election is now secure for Wilson beyond any possible change that can come from recounts or legal contests. It is a great victory for the sovereign people as opposed to the "Old Guard" of the republican party, Wall Street and the predatory interests. The popular verdict sounds the death knell of the republican party except it reorganizes on new and progressive lines, drops the tariff bogey and the idea of having Wall Street control the credit and the currency of the nation.

Never perhaps in the history of this nation was the defeat of a presidential candidate sought by such a motley, selfish and unpatriotic combination as that which opposed the election of Wilson and fought by every means in its power to elect Mr. Hughes. The fact that these elements carried all the large states and New England shows how well they had planned the capture of the states which as they believed controlled the election.

Not in any election for the past twenty-four years has there been so much cause for rejoicing as there is at the present moment in seeing the disloyal elements that backed Mr. Hughes buried in irrevocable defeat. In saying this it is only just to state that seldom, if ever, has a democratic candidate for the presidency received such liberal support from fair minded republicans as did President Wilson. The better element of the republican party supported Wilson; the worst element of the democratic party furnished the most vociferous shouters for Mr. Hughes.

The republican leaders have seen the power of the people asserted in a manner that upset all their calculations. They are bitterly disappointed of course, but it is a glorious victory for progressive democracy, for patriotism and the kind of Americanism that can be relied upon to defend the nation whenever it is in danger.

ELECTORAL AND POPULAR VOTE

Well, it wasn't such a neck and neck race after all. President Wilson has a safe and clear majority of the electoral college, and hence the republican talk about recounts and other things will avail them nothing. Wilson has carried thirty or thirty-one states, leaving Mr. Hughes with seventeen or eighteen. That does not seem so very close. He will not be a minority president by any means as on the face of the returns he has a substantial majority of the popular vote which will be swelled still more by the belated reports.

The enormous machinery of the electoral college has on more than one occasion defeated the will of the people. In 1821 General Jackson received 50,551 more votes than John Quincy Adams who was elected. Again in 1876, Mr. Tilden received 250,935 more votes than did Mr. Hayes who became president through means not entirely honorable. In 1888 Mr. Cleveland received 98,017 more votes than Mr. Harrison who was inaugurated. If Mr. Bryan in 1896 had received 30,000 more votes in close states, he would have defeated McKinley who had a plurality of more than 600,000 of the popular vote.

The time may come when the people will demand the abolition of the electoral college on the ground that it defeats the will of the people. It is said to have its advantages in guarding against the choice of any man who is wholly unfit.

THE BOSTON DISASTER

That terrible accident in Boston on Tuesday night resulted from the failure of signal lights to appear or else to the failure of the motorman of the car to take due notice of them. As a result 47 lives were lost. There will be investigations of course that will result in nothing except to show that the precautions against accident were inadequate.

It has been customary for electric cars to stop on reaching railroad crossings and surely a drawbridge should be considered fully as dangerous as a crossing, especially at night. In the case in question a motorman drove a heavily laden car into an open draw landing car and passengers in the river with the result that 47 were drowned.

The railroad company and the state or municipal authorities are to blame. Signal lights are always more or less uncertain. They are liable to be extinguished by various causes and then what? Why such an accident as that which shocked the city of Boston Tuesday night.

In some cases it requires such an accident to force the parties responsible to adopt proper safeguards. It required a Titanic disaster to induce the steamship companies to carry a sufficiency of life-saving apparatus and to adopt the rule of "Safety First." Such, unfortunately, is the presumption of safety, good luck, or whatever it may be called, that some people and some companies take the most desperate chances for lack of positive safeguards against the worst possibilities of disaster. In such cases the authorities should be held responsible. There should be no scapegoats.

THE WORST YET

One of the most desperate projects that Germany has yet attempted is the carrying off of young men and old from Belgium. It is alleged, for military service in her various armies. One can easily imagine what will happen to the Belgians who are drafted into the German army. They will be placed in the forefront of the battle and if they do not show a willingness

CUBAN ELECTION

The republic of Cuba has had election which passed off quietly in a manner quite similar to our own. President Menocal sought re-election and at first it was announced that his opponent, Dr. Zayas, was elected; but the later returns, as in our own case, show that the present incumbent has been re-elected. This is considered fortunate for the Cubans as the administration of President Menocal has been highly satisfactory while the elements represented by the other candidate appear rather turbulent in character. Cuba is to be congratulated on the result and on her prosperity during the past few years.

TREND IN MASSACHUSETTS

If Governor McCall's plurality of 14,000 indicates the normal republican vote of this state then there was quite a detour on the candidacy of Mr. Hughes whose plurality was but 21,000. Mr. Lodge, too, got considerable of a slashing as his plurality was about 32,000. Four years hence, Massachusetts will probably follow New Hampshire into the democratic camp.

LOWELL STRONGLY DEMOCRATIC

The democracy of Lowell are to be congratulated on their work for the party ticket on election day. The result was good and yet by attention to organization it might have been better. The city is strongly democratic but its forces are unorganized. We should have a city committee of strong workers to back up the party candidates in every contest.

THE SUBMARINE WARFARE

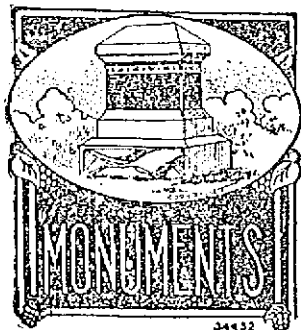

Germany is unwilling to submit to the demands of Norway that her submarines shall not traverse Norwegian waters unless they appear on the surface flying their national colors. A similar order might be issued by this country in order to safeguard vessels within the three mile limit. Our own submarine controversy with Germany is becoming quite acute.

Japan apparently has no desire for the South Sea Islands as she has willingly agreed not to seek possession of them at the termination of the European war.

Epigrams of Success

I had hoped to give many of the St. Louis hardware king, Mr. E. C. Simmons' business epigrams and mottoes, since they throw light on his successful methods. There is space for only a few.

"Promptness is the essence of all business."
"The difference between failure and success is doing a thing nearly right and doing it exactly right."
"Concentration means strength. Scattered means weakness. Having chosen one line of work or business, stick to it."

"Spend 15 minutes every night recording your day's doings and planning to do better next morning."

"Always put yourself in your customer's place."

"Character is the decisive force of business."

"I am a great believer in the business philosophy of encouragement. The merchant who does not permit himself to be depressed upon occasionally will never get far."

"If any of your men, or any customer, gets into a hole, always leave him a loophole to get out easy."

"Quality of goods, confidence in your ability and in your self, and readiness to anticipate conditions and to adapt yourself to them—these are some of the essentials to business success."—B. C. Forbes in Leslie's.

Jokes on the War

Is it true that we have all grown calmer about the horrors of war? When it first broke out, everybody was trying to fix the responsibility and the news was followed with intense interest. The slaughter of the Marne and the Meuse and the Russian marches made people turn pale and every hint of mediation for peace fell on sympathetic ears. Now, few talk about the war and readers for the most part scan over the headlines. There are no comments on stories of battles in which men fall by the hundreds of thousands. Has the war become a bore in which America shows little or no interest? Be that as it may, we have not become so wholly indifferent that we take devilish jokes on the war. Taken lightly by all. From time to time some stage comedian with a distorted sense of what is funny and what isn't springs some cheap joke about the terrible thing in the old world, and for the time being many laugh. Up to date, they think. Little do they realize the reality of the war, the wasted towns and cities, the butchery and carnage and starvation, the murderous thunders and the rain of red hot metal before which the finest men in all the world melt and twist and dissolve like October leaves in a bonfire. Away with the war joke! There is nothing funny about it.

The Old Town Crier
In the good old days there used to be a town crier in the New England towns. But those criers have long since come to take their place, unless we except the newspapers, of course, until the installation of the fire alarms. Those took the place of the crier when there was a fire. "Pho some one thought of having it take the place of the crier in notifying the school children when there should be no school, and it was done, the plan being so well that it still exists. Then the test signal was instituted to give the people a chance to set their watches once or twice a day, and thus it took the place of the town crier in announcing the time. And again, the town-crier office was again invaded, when it was decided to use the alarm to call the militia, and of more recent date it was invaded again by having the signal sounded on the alarm system to notify the arrival home of the soldier boys. In some of our towns last summer arrangements were made for having the signal sounded on the fire alarm in case there should be no plumes, where the plumes were of enough importance to warrant this. Yes, the town crier has gone, but the fire alarm system bids fair to take his place, more and more, as the occasions arise. And why not, so long as the system is paid for by the people and the use of it for these purposes does not interfere with the use for

And so we hides them in the shed when peoples come to call.

And one of 'em stay with them, so's they'll be sure an' stay.

And putted them in our yard; and my mamma says that she.

TARNOSKI SUCCEEDS DR. DUMBA, RECALLED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary Lansing announced last yesterday that the Austrian government has named Count de Tarnowski ambassador to the United States and that he had been accepted by this government. He succeeds Dr. Casimir Dumba, whose recall was insisted on by the United States last year because of his activities in the propaganda against American industries.

It was learned yesterday that the state department asked Austria and Turkey several weeks ago when they expected again to name ambassadors to this country and that it was informed their appointment would be made when the two governments were assured their ambassadors could safely reach the United States. Turkey apparently has gone no further than to make this answer. It was not believed here that any great difficulty would be encountered in the United States asked the entente allies to permit safe passage to this country of the envoys.

COMMUNICATION

Greek Orthodox Community, Lowell, Mass., Office on the President.

To the Editor of The Lowell Sun:

Dear Sir—In The Sun of the 6th instant I read certain criticisms made by the school committee after a visit to the Greek parochial school.

As the president of the Greek community, under the direct control of whom the Greek parochial school is, I think it is my duty to make certain remarks in reply to the statements given by the said school committee.

First of all, I feel rather honored by that visit of the entire board, because it indicates that some interest in schools in the Greek parochial school where some 250 boys and girls are receiving their first education.

But, I must state that without fear of being contradicted, that the visit was rather accidental and the study of the conditions and curriculum, in my opinion, was not very satisfactory.

Second, that I do not intend to convey the impression that I and the other directors with me are not willing to heed any recommendation made or to be made by the school committee, or that we shall not endeavor to do our best in case suggestions shall be made to us, but I must earnestly protest and I do so, in connection with the visit of the gentlemen of the school committee when they make the assertion that existing, one, no boy attending the Greek parochial school could read the English language.

Last year, also this year, I have been a member of the school committee, and I have always advocated the increase of the number of hours of teaching the English language, and the appointment of another teacher, but for the same reasons that the city had discontinued the teaching in the evening elementary schools last year, that has not been done.

This year, however, and very shortly, another teacher for the English shall be appointed and that upon my urgent recommendation.

But as to whether the boys and girls of the Greek parochial school are in a position to understand when they are asked to read, write and whether the school has been of any use for the teaching of the English language I shall state that since Alice Korous, for nine consecutive years has taught English to Greeks in the evening elementary schools, (Warthen and Mann) is very successful and has been asked to teach in the Greek parochial school, and on the strength of the experience that she has had.

And in order to prove that my assertion is not made at random, but that it is based on good reasons, I shall ask the gentlemen of the school committee, don't they think that a young Greek boy in the presence of a school committee might have felt rather uncomfortable and that there is to be found the reason why he cannot read the English language?

But, don't they think that if the questions were put through a person more familiar to the young boy or girl, the results might have been different and that, don't they think that the impression they give to the public is unjustified and possibly an erroneous one?

Justice to the teachers of the school, don't they think that they should have asked for a demonstration before they made the assertion that the children could not even answer when asked their names, and the assertion is not flattering, but rather insulting to the one who teaches the English language?

Now, the gentlemen at city hall be more helpful with good suggestions which will be very thankfully received and as far as possible acted upon, and less inclined to criticize.

With respect to the views of the gentlemen of the school committee and hoping that hereafter there will be between the school officials and the Greek community a better understanding and more co-operation in the making of good citizens of Greek descent, I am, sir, very truly yours,

Thomas J. Nounas,

President of the Greek Orthodox Community of Lowell, Mass.

PRINCETON TEAM SPENT NIGHT AT COUNTRY CLUB

The Princeton football team, which spent last night at the Vesper Country club in Tyngsboro, left for Boston this morning on the 9:25 train and went directly to the Cambridge stadium for their battle with Harvard. A squad of players, rubbers, trainers and coaches numbering about 40 and in charge of Head Coach Bush, arrived at the club shortly before 6 o'clock. They spent a quiet evening and retired before 10 o'clock. This morning the squad had breakfast and left soon afterward without any practice.

IMMORTALITY

Dr. Swain Gives His Last in a Series of Sermons at High Street Church Last Evening

There was a large audience at the High Street church last evening to hear Dr. Swain in the last sermon of his series. The subject was "Immortality." Following are some of the points brought out:

"The greatest of all causes for losing our sense of immortality is in losing our sense of a love for God. You won't find him any nearer tomorrow than he is today, unless you have the heart to know him today. God is just as near here as he is near heaven. The heaven is always a matter of the character and development of those who make it up. It depends upon the goodness and the sweetness of those who make it up. If you could swap people from the good heaven to a bad heaven, then things would be just reversed."

"I am sure that God has done his very best to make himself known. If people want to cut off God from life at the very root, then the very life, living element is taken right out of the life. People start off without the source and essence of life, and they never find it because it isn't there. They start wrong."

"A good deal of the religion of today is painting, trying to paint the different qualities of life as they should be. It is the essence of God that puts the real healthy redness into life. This is an age that is underfed religiously, and we cannot hope to get any real perspective out of such a starved age. You must get things right at the center."

"The meaning of life is to know the one author and father and to build up the world in the image of God's heart. The vision grows on us. If David has been getting along at all what a wonderful man he must be now. If all the sculptors, and authors and musicians are getting on what heights have they attained. If religion means life and humanity at their best it means growth and life, and power and the glory of God."

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS

The teachers of the commercial department of the Lowell high school went to Boston today to attend the New England commercial high school convention held at the new high school of commerce in Fenway. Before the formal opening of the convention all the visitors were shown through the new school. A feature of the program today was an exhibition of typewriting to music by Miss Dearborn of the Columbia university.

M'NAMARA BREAKS HIS COLLARBONE IN RACE

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The first accident to mar the six-day race now in progress at the Arem, happened early last night when the field was paddling at a terrific gait during a lap-stealing "jam." Reggie McNamara of the McNamara-Spears team, rated as one of the best pairs in the grid, fell from his mount and broke his collarbone. He was forced to withdraw with his partner, cutting the field to nine teams.

It was easily the most thrilling night of the week. Continual sprints and jams changed the standing at one time but a later sprint put them all on even terms again. Carman and Wiley featured in all the early sprints, but Wiley was well tired out. The field took advantage of the fact that Wiley, Carman's partner, was not in the oval. The field charged partners and in the sprint that continued Carman was lapped before Wiley could relieve him.

Two hours later, Wiley jumped the 16 RUNELS BLDG. MERRIMACK SQ. LOWELL, MASS.

When Sheriff Kinkaid of Bayonne, N. J., and Frank J. Cohen, ex-mayor of Glasgow, Scotland, started out with a band of musicians shortly after learning that Wilson would be elected from the national committee headquarters in New York city they were unaccompanied save by a few curious boys and other stragglers. Each of the two men held a broom, and on a bit of hunting stretched between the broom handles was the statement, "Wilson is elected." The unexpected and brief procession marched over to Fifth avenue from the democratic headquarters at Forty-second and Madison avenue, and turned downtown. By the time the paraders reached Twenty-third street the line behind them was three and a half blocks long, with the marchers swinging along two abreast. From somewhere the men had obtained pennants and the crowd then enthusiastically threw these away many women in the ranks. The line of march was then changed to Broadway, down to Fourteenth street and thence to Third avenue. Near this point is Tammany Hall. The marchers stood outside the building and cheered loudly. Then the line continued to Second avenue, up to street to Twenty-third street, across to Madison avenue and back to the starting point. Vice C. McConnel, chairman of the democratic national committee, kept in constant touch with California and Minnesota by long distance telephone. This picture-gram was taken at national headquarters in New York.

RECEPTION TO PRIVATE BARTON OF CO. M

Edward Barton of North Billerica, a private in Company M, Ninth regiment, was tendered a reception by the Father Mathew Total Abstinence society in its rooms in North Billerica last evening. There was a large attendance of members of the society and all joined in giving Private Barton a welcome on the occasion of his return from the border that he will not soon forget.

the Father Mathew T. A. society. He was active in his progress and prosperity before being called to Texas with his regiment and hence a reception was planned by his fellow members to extend him a hearty welcome back home.

The feature of the affair was the presentation to Private Barton of a beautiful gold watch and chain by the society. The presentation was made by Rev. David J. Murphy, chaplain of the Matthews, who spoke of the high esteem in which the young man is held by the society as well as all others who knew him. Rev. Mr. Murphy also emphasized the importance of a soldier being connected with a temperance organization and said that he was proud to feel that the North Billerica society had a representative in the service as faithful and loyal as the "ghost of honor." After recovering from the shock of the surprise Mr. Barton thanked his friends for their kindness and then related some of his experiences while on the border. His talk was very interesting and he gave a vivid idea of the four months spent in camp in Texas.

Edward T. Riley, president of the society, was the presiding officer. He made a brief address of welcome, speaking highly of Private Barton. Besides the presentation, a splendid musical program was furnished consisting of solos by Louis Mahoney, Richard Condon, Edward Collins and James Barton. Edward Barton rendered a song that was sung by the boys on the border. J. Frederick Gannon was the accompanist.

The committee in charge of the arrangements was as follows: William van and Joseph S. Welch, Henry Sullivan and Joseph Mahan.

LOWELL MAN WINS

"Bing" Conlon of Lowell won an interesting and closely contested skating race at the Rollaway last evening, defeating "Kid" Stanley of Manchester, N. H., Jerry McCarthy of Lynn and Ovide Caron of Portland, Me. In a five mile race. The time was 15 minutes and 10 seconds and is considered very fast. Caron was hardly in the race, the other three leaving him behind during the first few laps. The race between Conlon, McCarthy and Stanley was fast, however, the former winning by only a few feet. A race with the same four participating will take place this evening.

THE LATEST WRINKLE IN TAX DODGING

FRANKFORD-ON-THE-MAIN, Germany, Nov. — (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Beating the Government out of taxes by the more or less simple process of changing the character of one's business—from a limited liability corporation to a partnership—has become the latest wrinkle in tax dodging.

One firm in Muehlheim-on-the-Main, the owner of which is a resident of Frankfurt, has pursued the plan so successfully that he is alleged to have cheated the government legally by an out of between two and three million marks since the beginning of the war.

To prevent him from further evading taxes the mayor of Muehlheim has petitioned the Hessian legislature to enact some emergency legislation which shall prevent him from again altering the character of his business and escaping once more with his wares intact.

The man in question owns a plant that originally made steel screws, and that with the beginning of the war was commissioned by the Government to repair broken parts of armament. At the end of June, 1915, the firm then a corporation, had made a net profit of three and a half million marks.

On the basis of these profits, the firm was assessed for a total of 277,000 marks on its prospective business between April 1, and March 31, 1917. To evade this payment, the proprietor changed his business, had himself appointed as receiver and blossomed out as a partnership. By the time the authorities discovered this, and also found that the old firm against which prospective taxes had been assessed was no longer existent, the profits had increased, it is estimated, to some-

PRICE ONE CENT

NEW WAGE AGREEMENT FOR BAY STATE CARMEN

Never before has such a liberal working agreement been offered to employees of the Bay State street railway as the one presented to members of the union all over the system for acceptance or rejection at meetings held last evening. It will affect 8000 employees of the company which controls lines from Newburyport to Nashua, N. H. Wage increases, better hours, and numerous other concessions are granted. While the vote on the new agreement has not yet been announced, local men are of the opinion that it will be practically unanimously accepted, and that it will be signed at a meeting of representatives of the union and the company this afternoon.

Wage increases of four cents an hour; pay for nine hours to operators of cars working eight and one-half hours; and wages for eight and one-half hours to operators of cars working only eight hours are among the provisions in the new agreement.

Fred Crowley, president of the local union and chairman of the joint conference board, was one of the fathers of the agreement. His efforts in this

Sect. 2. On October 1st of each year the company shall post a list in the different barns requesting conductors and motormen who desire snow work to sign for same. This list shall close Oct. 12. If an insufficient number of men have signed, or if any signers are unfitted or otherwise disqualified for snow work, the necessary number may be added by the superintendent, but shall be rated behind the men who signed the posted list, but no employees while juniors are available. On Oct. 15 the company shall post a list of all men entitled to snow work, and at the same time a list of the different routes, with the number of plows to be used on same, from which choice may be made by routes in accordance with seniority, the employee being chosen shall be employed as foreman on snow plow work shall be paid at the rate of forty-five (45) cents per hour, and all other conductors and motormen employed on snow plow work shall be paid at the rate of forty (40) cents per hour; the same rate to apply to men operating cars pushing plows other than cars in passenger service which may do so for one hour or less, salt cars during snow storms, and conductors and motormen leveling with flat cars, horse-drawn levelers and snow removers; and when available and unless prevented by controlling emergency, the first men called to plows which are going out shall be called at all times. The choice list shall provide for first and alternate crews of not less than three men for each plow. When practicable, running periods shall not exceed twelve (12) hours for either crew. All leveling, cleaning of turnouts and similar work after storms shall be performed by the men who have selected the route upon which the same is to be done, except as the amount and character of the work and the time to be consumed may justify its being done otherwise, seniority to govern. All other snow work shall be given according to seniority of service, and conductors and motormen shall receive preference in assignment when circumstances do not permit of their doing their regular customary work. In no case will a man be required to do more than six consecutive hours' snow work without time off for meals, which, when rendered necessary by the nature of the work, shall be furnished or paid for by the company. Men not listed for snow plow work, but called for report, while held for orders, other than their regular hours, shall be paid snow plow wages.

Paid for Accident Reports
Sect. 4. When conductors or motormen are required to lose time in looking up accidents or in making out reports in accident cases before completion of their regular day's work, they shall be paid their regular rate, and for all other accident reports shall be paid fifteen (15) cents each.

Signed statements required of employees shall be paid for as accident reports.
Sect. 5. When any conductor or motorman has been suspended or discharged, and the association feels that a case of injustice has been done him, it shall have the right to take the case up, first with the division superintendent, and if that fails, to the general superintendent. If the division superintendent, after a fair hearing, shall have the right to appeal the case successively to the general superintendent, as provided for in Sect. 1. And if it is determined that such employee was unjustly suspended or discharged, the superintendent shall reinstate him in his former position, and paid for all time lost. Provided, however, that the provisions of arbitration above referred to shall not apply to conductors and motormen during the first six months of employment.

The company agrees to adopt a discipline and system of record of discipline, the superintendent and employee each holding one. Similar records of discipline administered shall be kept by the company. The employee may have his defense or comment entered thereon.

General superintendent's conferences
Sect. 6. The company shall provide a book for conductors and motormen in which to register their names and dates they registered, and to be off duty, but not more than seven days prior thereto. First on the list to have preference except as to Sundays, which shall be applied to all other employees if they so desire. Men who are off duty Thanksgiving day forfeit their claim to be on the list. Men who are off duty Thanksgiving day forfeit their claim to be on the list. WOMAN HAS SEAT IN CONGRESS, FIRST TIME IN THE NATION'S HISTORY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES (PRES. WILSON SPEAKING) AND MISS RANKIN.

Miss Jeannette Rankin, elected to the national house of representatives from Montana, is a source of particular pride to the National Suffrage association, inasmuch as she was for a number of years one of its most valued organizers and the standard bearer who carried her state for suffrage. She is a republican in politics. Jeannette Rankin is a member of a well-to-do banker's family of Helena, Mont. In 1908 she was graduated from the New York School of Philanthropy, went to Seattle, Wash., filed a position of "baby sitter" for a year, found that wasn't her metier and quit finding ideal homes for infants to join the women fighters in Washington. She stamped and organized in the Washington campaign and received no remuneration. "It was for the cause," she said in referring to it. She became later the field secretary of the National Woman Suffrage association. House listening to President Wilson and Miss Rankin in pictures.

MESSAGES OF CONGRATULATION
MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 11.—Messages of congratulation from suffrage leaders in many parts of the country poured into Missoula yesterday for Miss Jeannette Rankin, republican, the first woman to be elected to congress. Miss Rankin's campaign managers contended that she had been successful by at least 2000 majority. "I felt that the women would stand by me," Miss Rankin said yesterday. "It is wonderful to me to think of having the opportunity of being the first woman to sit in congress with employees are respectively employed, and upon request will furnish transportation to a reasonable extent for other parts of the company's system.

No Discrimination Against Union
Sect. 11. The company will do nothing to prevent or discourage any employee from becoming or remaining a member of the association, and will in no way discriminate against a member because of such membership. The association will not discriminate against any person in the employment of the company because of his membership in the association. All employees who are now or hereafter become members of the association shall remain members in good standing of the association, so long as they remain in the service of the company, providing that such continuance in membership shall not conflict with the laws of the association.

If any member of the association is expelled or suspended from his membership therein for violation of its constitution and general laws, or if any provision of this agreement, the company, upon receipt of the proofs of such violation from the association, shall suspend such member from its service, and shall not readmit him until such suspension is removed, and shall dismiss or suspend such employee from its service.

Arrangement of Schedules

Sect. 12. In the arrangement of schedules as many runs as possible shall be made so that no employee shall be required to work more than eleven consecutive hours, and the remainder being arranged to the best advantage in runs of not less than eight or more than twelve hours. The company will make up the extra trips to make such runs. Crews losing an extra trip scheduled as part of a run shall have seniority preference in selecting a substitute, which, however, shall be made only in any other run. Runs shall be made on the basis of six hours being the limit of continuous work, and in no case shall 7 1/2 hours be exceeded if unsatisfactory to the men at the car house affected. Refunds for dinner or supper shall be at least one hour in length.

When the company desires a man who has worked continuously seven hours to then run extra, he shall be relieved a sufficient time to go home to his meal, or be furnished a meal by the company.

Schedules as posted shall be picked and run until revision is agreed upon by the committee of any division dissatisfied with such posted runs in conference with the company.

Men having regular runs or doing any work except snow work with outside time exceeding twelve hours shall be paid additional compensation at the rate of fifteen (15) per cent of the employee's regular hourly rate for the first excess hour or fraction thereof, and at the rate of thirty (30) per cent for any further excess.

The basic principle for work required of extra men shall be nine hours and shall be completed insofar as possible within twelve consecutive hours, and only in extreme cases shall they be required to work beyond fourteen consecutive hours. Extra men required to report and so reporting shall be guaranteed a minimum of six hours with fourteen consecutive hours and receive six hours' pay for the same and work performed after the fourteenth hour shall be paid for in addition to the six hours guaranteed time. Work after the fourteenth hour shall be paid additional compensation at the rate of twenty-five (25) per cent of the employee's regular hourly rate for the first excess hour or fraction thereof, and at the rate of thirty-five (35) per cent for any further excess.

Runs containing eight hours and less than eight hours and thirty minutes shall be paid eight hours and thirty minutes. Runs containing eight hours and thirty minutes and less than nine hours shall be paid nine hours. All other runs shall be computed in fifteen minute periods.

The arrangement of schedules all reflects of thirty minutes or less shall be paid for as part of the run.

Where regular or extra motormen and conductors are required to go to and from the car house or operating centre to their work, they shall be allowed travelling time for the same, and it shall become a part of the scheduled run.

Men running extra trips starting before eight o'clock a. m. shall be allowed a minimum of two hours for the same and the same shall apply to all early morning crews required to report to cover the list; provided, that such allowances shall not result in a double payment for any work done during such two hours.

The present practices as to reporting shall continue. In the event of any extra man oversleeping, he shall report as soon as possible, but will lose his guarantee for that day unless he reports, but must be given work from his place at the foot of the spare list in preference to any regular or call man.

Extra Pay for Instructing New Men
Sect. 13. Any conductor or motorman promoted to starter, inspector, foreman or other official position, shall be given twelve months to try the same, and if he does not return to his car in the above stated time, he shall lose his rating.

Sect. 14. When any conductor or motorman is requested to instruct or in other phrase "break in" a man, he shall be paid at the rate of four (4) cents per hour therefor.

Sect. 15. When a member of the association in the mechanical or miscellaneous departments has been suspended or discharged, and the association feels after investigation on its part that an injustice has been done, it shall have the right to appeal the case up first with the general foreman in that respective department, and if a satisfactory adjustment is not reached, it shall have the right to appeal the case successively to the general superintendent of the division, the head of the department concerned and to arbitration, as provided for in section 1; and if it is determined that such employee was unjustly suspended or discharged, he shall be reinstated in his former position, and paid for all time lost.

ASSURED OF ELECTION

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 11.—Latest returns today assured the election to congress of Miss Jeannette Rankin, republican.

All conferences and decisions requested under the above paragraph shall be granted as promptly as possible, but not exceeding the following:—by the general foreman within three days after being notified, and a decision within three days thereafter; by the general superintendent within six days after receiving notification, and a decision within four days thereafter; and by the head of the department within six days, and a decision within five days thereafter.

JAPAN AND FRANCE GLAD PRES. WILSON WON

TOKIO, Nov. 11.—The re-election of President Wilson is welcomed by the Japanese press, which praises his peaceful disposition and believes his continuation in office augurs well for the furtherance of American-Japanese friendship. Business circles are pleased as they feared a republican protective tariff would be a blow to Japanese exports to America.

FRANCE LIKES RESULT

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The newspapers, while giving prominence to the news of the American election express little opinion as to the result. What comment there is, is sympathetic to President Wilson.

The Petit Journal says: "President Wilson's victory is highly satisfactory to us for two reasons. The first is that for four years American foreign policies will be free from all electoral considerations as the constitution forbids President Wilson from seeking a third term; the second reason is that the result of the election must put new life into American neutrality. Evidently an immense majority of the electorate pronounced against war, but apart from the millions of voters who approved the vigor with which the president forced the Germans to recede on the submarine war question, other millions voted for Hughes because he demanded an even firmer defense of American rights. The chief executive is obliged to take into account this double wish. Just as Hughes could not have ignored the verdict against war, so Wilson must take into consideration the condemnation of a line of policy which Roosevelt has characterized as "backboneless."

The Martin and the Parisian express the same view. The latter concludes: "It is because he played a very honorable role in a moment of a grave crisis that the American people have renewed their mandate to President Wilson."

LONDON TRIBUTE TO WILSON

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Manchester Guardian attributes President Wilson's success to the rallying of a sufficient number of the progressive voices which Roosevelt gained in 1912.

"It seems a small thing," this newspaper continues, "but yet it may indicate a new epoch in American political life. The progressive movement arose entirely independently of foreign politics. Many progressive votes given to Wilson are given with the mental reservation that they will not go again to a democratic candidate unless Wilson confirms the faith of the progressives by consolidating what is still only tentative. If he does that he will have established himself as the ablest statesman since Lincoln, and he may be destined to play a part in the achievement of peace, which will give him a place in world history."

WILLIAM M. FAIRBANKS OF J. C. AYER CO. DEAD

William M. Fairbanks died this morning at 12.15 o'clock at his residence, 31 Hoyt avenue, Mr. Fairbanks was the younger son of the late Moses and Frances Moulton Fairbanks of Boston. He leaves one sister, Miss Ella A. Fairbanks of Boston, and one brother, the Hon. Henry O. Fairbanks of Quincy. Deceased was a member of the Yoric club, the Chauncey Hall School association, Monument Lodge, Royal Arcanum, and the well known Fairbanks Family association.

Mr. Fairbanks was well and favorably known in this city, having had entire charge of the advertising department of the J. C. Ayer Co. for 20 years. In business circles throughout New England Mr. Fairbanks was well known and highly esteemed. The death of his wife a short time ago preyed upon his mind and undoubtedly hastened his end. In the circle in which he moved Mr. Fairbanks was beloved for his genial manner, his kindness of heart and obliging disposition. He had proved himself a very efficient advertising manager during his years of service with the Ayer company, and none regret his untimely demise more than Dr. Stowell, manager of the Ayer company's business. The funeral will be held at 2.30 o'clock Monday morning.

M'CORMICK HINTED FOR SECRETARY OF WAR

The New York Sun today prints the following:

Political gossip yesterday had it pretty well settled that Vance C. McCormick, democratic national chairman, is to be taken into President Wilson's cabinet as secretary of war to succeed Newton D. Baker, who has announced that he will resign March 1st.

When this subject was broached to Mr. McCormick he followed the usual custom of successful campaign managers and vigorously denied that he had any intention or knowledge of becoming one of Mr. Wilson's official family. He stoutly insisted that he intended to return to Harrisburg to look after the management of his newspaper.

But the underground political currents yesterday buzzed incessantly on this subject and in many quarters it was regarded as reasonably certain that Mr. McCormick would be offered the place, whether he accepted it or not. And a certain democratic leader who is known to be in touch with the national chairman during the campaign broadly intimated that the gossip had more than ordinary foundation.

The president thinks very highly of Mr. McCormick's ability as an executive, as was evinced when Mr. Wilson forced the democratic convention to elect him last June to accept him as the national chairman. The closest personal relations exist between the two, and the president's implicit reliance on the judgment of the Pennsylvania editor during the campaign is cited as proof that he will ask Mr. McCormick to become one of his official advisers.

MEXICO WOULD SUPPORT UNITED STATES IN EVENT OF WAR

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 11.—In the event of war between the United States and any other nation outside of America, Mexico understands that her attitude must be one of complete continental solidarity, said Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican section of the American academy of political and social sciences and the Pennsylvania arbitration and peace society, who had as their guests of honor the members of the American and Mexican joint commission.

Dr. L. S. Rowe, president of the academy and secretary of the commission, opened the meeting, declaring in his welcoming address that in the conduct of international relations, the United States must stand for new and higher standards, with jealousy and distrust giving way to frankness, helpfulness and co-operation. "If there is any one mission," he said, "which the privileged positions of the United States calls upon her to perform, it is to sound a new note in international intercourse."

Mr. Cabrera who, in addition to being chairman of the Mexican section of the commission, is the minister of finance under the Carranza government, discussed the ideals and purposes of the Mexican revolution from a purely scientific viewpoint, but in conclusion he referred to the international situation. He said:

"The main political international problem of Mexico consists of her relations with the United States. After the war of 1877, which cost Mexico half of her territory, Mexicans have not been able to regain confidence in regard to the imperialistic tendency that the Latin-American countries attribute to the United States. During the Mexican revolution, after the occupation of Vera Cruz and the Columbus expedition, the fears of Mexicans of a conflict with the United States increased considerably, chiefly since it is known that one of the political parties of the United States frankly advocates intervention. The repeated and public statements of non-intervention made by the democratic government of the United States have not been sufficient to allay the fears of the Mexicans."

"As a neighbor of the United States, Mexico will also have as an international problem the danger of a conflict between the United States and some other European or Asiatic power. The foes of the United States, that are always foes of the whole American continent, certainly assume to be friends of Mexico, and will try to take advantage of any sort of resentment, feeling or distrust that Mexico may have against the United States."

"Mexico, nevertheless, understands that in case of a conflict between the United States and any other nation outside of America, her attitude must be one of complete continental solidarity."

"From this viewpoint, the revolutionary government has followed a policy of frankness and consistency in her relations with the United States, putting always her deeds in accordance with her words, and sincerely trying to reach an understanding with the people and the government of the United States."

"Within Mexico, the real international problem means the protection of foreign life and property and the condition of foreigners in regard to natives. On account of the non-enforcement of the political and civil laws in favor of Mexicans and on account of the always diplomatic protection that foreigners have enjoyed, a sort of privileged condition has arisen little by little in favor of foreigners. Mexico has the problem of equalizing the conditions of Mexicans and foreigners, not by lowering foreigners, but by raising the condition of natives."

"The privileged condition of foreigners that has existed in Mexico for a long time has produced a certain jealousy and distrust with which Mexicans look upon the increase of immigration and foreign investments in Mexico, since such increase would be considered as the strengthening of a privileged class."

"The problem for Mexico is to find the way in which foreign money and immigrants can freely come to Mexico and contribute to her progress without becoming a privileged class, that is to say, that instead of becoming a growing menace to the sovereignty of Mexico, will contribute to the consolidation of her sovereignty and independence as a nation."

prosecute those who have not observed the law. The legal procedure for the proper execution of a garage is for the petitioner to get a permit from the chief of the fire department, and to take the matter up with the commissioner under whom the matter comes. At the present time Commissioner Putnam receives those petitions and presents them to the municipal council at regular meetings.

The fine for the offense is $50, and it was said at city hall that Mr. Griffin was very much in earnest when he threatened to bring action against negligent residents of this city.

Street Railway Check

The following is the copy of a rather "touching" letter sent by Mayor O'Donnell recently to the president of the Bay State Street Railway Co.:

Nov. 3, 1915.

P. F. Sullivan, President,
81 State Street,
Boston, Mass.

My dear Mr. Sullivan:

The city of Lowell is about to complete the construction of a new concrete bridge over the Merrimack river at Pawtucket falls. May I expect at an early date the Bay State check for $5000 as a contribution towards the cost of the new bridge?

Very respectfully,
James B. O'Donnell,
Mayor of Lowell.

A favorable reply has been received from President Sullivan stating that the check will be forthcoming in a short time.

Mortality of City

The weekly statistics of the board of health show that the death total is rather high, being 41 as compared with 32 and 33 respectively for the past two weeks. There is an increase also in the number of cases of measles reported, last week's total being 8, as compared with 12 this week. Following is the condensed report:

Block Paving Suit

The suit of Frank A. Mallory vs. the city of Lowell, relative to 20,000 paving blocks for which Mr. Mallory claims the city still owes him will be put on trial next week before James F. Owens, Esq., as auditor. The city denies the claim. Mr. Mallory has assigned his claim to the Lowell Trust company.

THINGS THAT HAPPENED IN POLICE COURT

When Armand Robillard appeared in police court the other day charged with the larceny of $24 in money from Hermenegildo Paradis he said that the $24 which he had displayed was part of pay he had received at the U. S. Cartridge shop. An investigation was made and it was found that he had never worked at the Cartridge shop. His mother, however, said she would make restitution and on that condition Robillard was given a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

Liquor Cases

Bartholomew Croteau was charged with the illegal sale of liquor and upon entering a plea of guilty a fine of $300 was levied. The case of illegal keeping preferred against him was dismissed.

Alfred P. Plagg was charged with the unlawful sale of liquor but owing to lack of evidence the case was dismissed.

Drunk Offenders

Thomas P. McGowan pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk in Bridge street last night. Police Constable and Wm. testified that the man was staggering through the street and was given a chance to go home and upon refusing to do so he was placed under arrest. He was found guilty and sentenced to three months in jail. He entered an appeal.

Cornelius Leary was fined $15 and John O'Donnell was given a suspended sentence to the state farm for six weeks when a fine of $15 was imposed. He was sentenced to one month in jail. William Oswald was handed a suspended sentence to the state farm. Seven simple drunks were released by the probation officer.

His Seventh Appearance

Napoleon Charest made his seventh appearance before the court within a year. He is just after completing a four months' sentence in jail and while at that place was examined as to his sanity. Although he received $18 a week when working, when a fine of $15 was imposed he asked the court to give him six months in which to pay it. He was told that he would have to pay the fine within a month.

THE HARVARD BROUGHT BACK AS RESULT OF GREAT DEMAND FOR OCEAN TONNAGE

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The barge Harvard, formerly a square rigged sailing ship from this port, has had for ten years reduced to stub masts in the coal carrying trade, will be under sail again as a barge, as a result of the great demand for ocean tonnage. The Harvard was bought today by a local shipbuilding firm at a price almost as great as the cost to build her at Brunswick, Me., 22 years ago. As the ship Sam Skifford, 240, the Harvard was taken into Philadelphia 10 years ago under jury rig almost a floating wreck after experiences that brought high praise for her skipper's seamanship.

THE NEW YORK BOXING BOARD TO STAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—With the reelection of Gov. Whitman, members of the boxing commission are reasonably sure of retention of office. Chairman Fred Wenck's appointment holds for two years and Frank Dwyer's term does not expire for a year. John Francis will step out of office next January unless reappointed.

The appointment of a successor to Francis hinges the question of the reelection of the present rule, prohibiting decisions by official referees. Dwyer and Francis have been strongly opposed to decisions, while Wenck has been in favor of them. If a new member of the board is named, the rule will be changed. Had Gov. Whitman been defeated the boxing commission stood a fair chance of abolition, or at least removal in favor of other men, but as the case stands the present commission and policy will be in force for some time to come.

Cine Must Expatriate
"Irish Fatsy" Cine will be asked to offer plausible explanations to the boxing commission next Monday for his cancellation of his engagement to box Joe Welling at the Manhattan S. C. Club. The committee for the bout, and this serious action on Charles Johnson, manager of the club, that he could not go on owing to an injured hand. When Johnson learned that Cine was making arrangements to box Ad Wally, with a few days he induced him to comply with the commission's wishes. Cine will be on the spot at the time when he is asked to appear at the Manhattan S. C. Club and explain to the club officials why he failed to start an unimpaired scrap outside the club where there was not the slightest chance for a receipts. The this heinous offense the club officials insist that Johnson be severely punished.

Would Stop Bob Moha
H. Pollok came to the commission office and leveled off bitterly against Bob Moha's closing in on Willie Abbe at the Broadway S. C. next Tuesday. Pollok alleged that there is an open date at the garden within ten days and that the Moha-Wenck bout must take place there before Moha boxes elsewhere.

Pollok seemed to be apprehensive that Mike must muss up Moha so that the "Cave Man" would be unrepresentative in polite Queensberry society on the occasion of his meeting with Wenck. Wenck called attention to the fact that the garden boxing match can be held in the arena to a new corporation, which in turn must apply for a new license to hold bouts. Therefore the commission will not interfere with the Mike-Moha bout.

TEXTILE GAME HALTED BY DARKNESS

The Lowell Textile school football team won its second game of the week on the Textile campus yesterday afternoon by defeating the Huntington Preparatory school of Boston. The score was 9 to 6. Capt. Barry's return to the game after an absence of four weeks strengthened the local team considerably. He kicked a goal from placement on Huntington's 32-yard line about two minutes after the start of the game. As each team made a touchdown afterward the goal proved the winning margin for Textile.

The Textile touchdown was made by Plaisant in the second period after an attempted punt by Huntington. The punt was blocked and Plaisant fell on the ball as it rolled over the goal-line. Barry failed to kick the goal.

The Huntington touchdown came after one of the Textile backs had fumbled a pass. Downing, the speedy Huntington right end, fell on the ball and plunged across the line. Snow made an unsuccessful attempt to kick the goal. The game was called at the end of the third period on account of darkness. The lineup and summary:

GIBBONS DEFEATS DILLON ON POINTS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 11.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul outpointed Jack Dillon of Indianapolis in a 10-round no-decision contest here last night. Gibbons led in six rounds. Three sessions went to Dillon and the other was even. At 3 p. m. Gibbons weighed in at 152½ and Dillon at 167, the latter one pound under the agreed weight.

Round One—The men went into a clinch. Dillon forced Gibbons to the ropes. The latter shot two sharp lefts to the jaw. Dillon came in again and in a brisk exchange Gibbons had a shade. The St. Paul boxer's effective lefts gave him the round.

Round Two—Both men proved ready fighters in the second period, but again Gibbons effectively left made Dillon's efforts virtually fruitless. The St. Paul phenomenon stepped out of Dillon's drives and turned them into wild swings. Gibbons' footwork and left jab favored him.

Round Three—Dillon attempted to get Gibbons at the outset of the third session, but the local lad pulled away with left and right swings to the jaw. The Hoosier came back strong, however, and kept Gibbons meeting all the time. Just before the bell the men went into a clinch and broke away with a forewell jab from Gibbons. Gibbons' round by a shade.

Round Four—Both men showed some inclination to feel each other out, but when Dillon pressed matters, Gibbons came back with high piston-like lefts and right hooks. The Indianapolis man away. Dillon got in two short shots, but Gibbons evened matters by swinging a right to the head and a short left to the body. The round ended with neither having a decided advantage. Even round.

Round Five—Breaking away from a clinch Gibbons sent a swift right to the body and then a crooked left to the head. The Hoosier lad pressed forward and landed a brisk drive to Gibbons' head. Dillon seemed anxious to press the battle and while Gibbons' footwork kept him out of danger it did not even the score. Dillon's round.

Round Six—Gibbons' side-stripped Dillon's attack at the outset of the sixth session and the Indianapolis fighter sought to rush Gibbons to the ropes. He ducked a sweeping right and they went into a clinch. At close quarters they seemed about even, but Gibbons' lone range work was more effective. Dillon's aggressiveness carried him the round by a shade.

Round Seven—The men went into a clinch and when they broke apart, Gibbons secured for Gibbons' head, but the Hoosier ducked and glided into a clinch. Gibbons showed a readiness to stand up against Dillon, and frequently the St. Paul man changed a scumming disadvantage to a point in his favor by clever footwork. Dillon's heavy swings frequently rolled off Gibbons' ducking shoulders. The St. Paul man kept the lead in the period. Gibbons' Round Eight—Gibbons held the ad-advantage at the opening of the eighth round. He was able to side-step Dillon's blows. Gibbons' left jab, supplemented by a sensational right to the head, gave him a shade in the closing of the round, he rushed Dillon to the ropes. They rushed into clinches when the Indianapolis boy started his terrific rights. Gibbons' round.

Round Nine—When the ninth round opened Gibbons showed great skill in disappearing before the sweeping swings of the Indianapolis man. Dillon attempted to force matters, but Gibbons ducked under three high swings and came back with two short lefts and a right to the body. The boxing was fast at the end of the round with Gibbons slipping from the reaching swings of Dillon and landing effective rights to the body. Gibbons' round.

Round Ten—Gibbons slipped away from three successive swings, but Dillon followed an advantage gained from a break-away and landed his most effective blows of the bout to Gibbons' jaw and body. The Indianapolis man forced the going for the first part of the round. Dillon pressed another advantage when Gibbons broke away from him, but was unable to evade the Hoosier's encompassing swings and the final session went to Dillon. Dillon's round.

BENNY LEONARD WINS
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Benny Leonard of this city defeated Stanley Vorkum of Denver in a 10-round bout last night. Leonard was the aggressor throughout, scoring clean knockdowns in the 8th round. Leonard weighed 141 pounds and Vorkum 124½.

DONOVAN GETS DECISION
BOSTON, Nov. 11.—After 12 rounds of hard, fast fighting Referee Jerry Moore awarded Johnny Donovan of South Boston the decision over Howard MacRae of Cambridge last night at the Commercial A.C. Both boys fought at top speed during the entire distance and many of the members were of the opinion that a draw would not have been an injustice to either.

During the early frames, MacRae showed a terrific heat, but he was cooled from the penitentiary district but Donovan came back strong, especially in the 10th, 11th and final rounds. In was Donovan's forcing, clever defensive work and clean hitting during the latter part of the fight that won him the verdict.

BILLY MISKE IS A VERY POPULAR PUGILIST

Billy Miske, the St. Paul light-heavyweight, appears to be the most sought for big man in the first tier. Ever since his two victories over Tom Lewis he is in demand all over the country. The welterweight had a little more weight on him than he would be steering him for a battle against Jess Willard, but like Lewis, he just lacks the necessary proportions. Miske's defeats of Lewis were not of the same variety. In their first encounter over in Brooklyn, Miske surprised the elite by not only out-boxing Danny Morgan's champ, but proved that he has a punch as well. When Lewis succeeded in outpointing Jack Dillon in their recent bout at the Armory A.A., in Boston, being Morgan thought that his chance was traveling in such good form that he decided to take home name at Miske. That again Morgan stepped another surprise for Mike out of the blue. Miske is due for an appearance at the Boston club and it is said against none other than Lewis.

WILSON ASKS ALL TO FORGET DIFFERENCES

WILIAMSTOWN, Nov. 11.—"Now that the campaign is over we may all address ourselves to the welfare of the nation without thought of partisan feeling," declared President Wilson in his first public speech since the national election, delivered before a delegation of Williamstown residents and Williams college students, who greeted him here late yesterday.

The president was welcomed by the students and townspeople after the christening of Eleanor Arson Sayre, the second child of his daughter, Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, and for whom he stood as godfather.

Unite For Common Service

In a speech last night before several thousand persons who came from nearby towns to congratulate him on his re-election, President Wilson said: "I want to say that now the campaign is over we must think of only one thing, and that is not of parties, but of the interest of the great country we all love. Let us forget all our differences and unite for common service. Only in that way can we work for the great nation that has given us liberty and peace."

Came To Forget Politics

Soon after his arrival at the home of his son-in-law, assistant to the president of Williams college, the delegation headed by President H. A. Garfield of the college and Samuel P. Blodgett, chairman of the Williamstown common council, marched to the Sayre home. The president spoke from the porch of the house, and was cheered enthusiastically by the students.

"I came here to forget the field of politics and for a brief rest. I came simply to visit my daughter and to attend a simple ceremony here today," he said. "Now that the campaign is over, we may all address ourselves to the welfare of the nation without thought of partisan feeling."

Defines Politics

The president referred to his service as chief executive of Princeton university, saying he knew from experience there was politics even in the running of a college.

"Politics," he continued, "is after all a means of getting something done, or putting forward ideas. It is a fight, but the man who does not love the fight has no red blood in his veins."

Mr. Wilson told a story of a man having a vision in which he was offered a horn and a sword, and chose the horn. Immediately the vision vanished and the man was cursed for taking the horn before the sword. He told the story to illustrate the necessity for fighting.

Speeches Full of Wisdom

Mr. Garfield, a son of President Garfield, declared the president's words during the campaign had been "full of wisdom and light." He added: "We wish you Godspeed in your great office."

When the president arrived here last afternoon he found a stack of telegrams there, first high congratulating him on his re-election. They came from cabinet members, senators, representatives, government officials and leading democrats. He will reply to none of them until his return to Washington, since no stenographer accompanied him.

Soon after his arrival with Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, his cousin, the president went to St. John's Protestant Episcopal church to attend the christening.

Baby Cries Continuously

The family party rode the few blocks to the church in an automobile. The baby cried continuously. Inside the church only a few intimate friends of Mrs. Sayre witnessed the ceremony. As one of the godfathers of the baby, President Wilson promised in the name of the child to "renounce the devil and all his works." The other godfather was the Rev. James M. Sayre, brother of Francis B. Sayre, the godmothers were Miss Margaret Wilson, Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, her sister, Miss Blanche Newell, aunt of Mr. Sayre, and Mrs. R. H. Sayre, mother of Mr. Sayre.

The family party stood about the baptismal font as the Rev. J. A. F. Carter, rector of the church, read the service. Afterwards the president paid a call on President Garfield.

To Washington Tonight

Last night the family had dinner together at the Sayre home. The president will remain here until 5:25 o'clock this afternoon and then will return to Washington, where he is due to arrive Sunday night.

On his way here the president was cheered by crowds at Troy and several other towns in New York and Massachusetts.

Chance for a Bargain

The democrats who are going to celebrate this evening by striking a good bargain by applying at the Courier-Citizen office where there is on hand a choice lot of red fire and flags, which is of no further use to its present owners and which they might be willing to sell at a sacrifice. Only a small portion of the original lot has been used for shortly after the New York Times announced the election of Hughes and the first sticks of red fire were lighted other announcements came over the wire which caused a permanent suspension of the Courier-Citizen's pyrotechnic display.

Sparks the Come-Back Man

A former chairman of the republican city committee, discussing the senatorial election, said yesterday: "We had it all figured out that Colburn would win by at least 1500 and when the returns came in showing the great victory of Mr. Sparks we were astonished. The fact that he would poll such a vote after being out of politics for over a decade shows that he has lost none of his vote-getting ability and that he will be a dangerous candidate next year if he runs again."

And if the democrats had an organization such as the republicans had working at the polling places on election day Sparks would have received many more votes than he received as it was.

How Calls Around

Roger Sherman How was in town yesterday and called at the Sun office to pay his compliments to the editor. He proposes to convince the public of Lowell by means of a pamphlet from the proper parties that certain statements concerning him attributed to Congressman Rogers were misleading. "I'm going to convince Congressman Rogers," said Mr. How, "that I own that farm. I'm going to invite him down to it some day and show him all over it. Then I'll give him a spade and allow him to take some of the land home with him."

The Official Count

One frequently heard during the anxious moments pending the announcement of the belated returns, the statements: "What's the matter with those people in the west, don't they know how to count? How is it that our returns and those of New York are all in the same night, while it takes them three days to get in their count?"

Those who made such statements fail to realize that the official votes of Massachusetts and of New York have not been announced yet as they have not been counted up by the secretary of state and his assistants. In states where there is no question as to the identity of the winning candidates, like Massachusetts, New York, Ohio and the others, the first or unofficial count figured up by the party organizations and the press from the returns from the different cities and towns is accepted on its face, but in all states where the count is close and the count in doubt nothing is accepted until the official count from the office of the secretary of state is given out. The count that we have been waiting for all week from California and the other states is the official count of the secretary of state.

THE SPELLBINDER.

AUTHOR'S READING BY NOTED PLAYWRIGHT.

Many invited friends of Rogers Hall gathered last evening with the pupils and faculty and enjoyed two delightful hours in listening to an author's reading by Charles W. Kennedy, the noted playwright. With the unmistakable touch of genius he held the attention of his audience from first to last and with all the arts of intonation, facial expression and subtle shading, brought home to them the pathos or tragedy or humor of the scene he depicted. There was no painted scenery or other distraction to interfere with the central theme, and when the author-reader gave the lines of "The Servant in the House" or "The Terrible Meek," he was master of every mood of the audience.

The reading was from the New Testament, the story of the blind man appealing for aid to Christ; the story of Christ writing in the sand and finally the story of Lazarus. The poetry of the Bible was brought home to the audience in the rhythmic measures of the verse, and the dramatic possibilities of the text were obvious.

From "The Servant in the House," Mr. Kennedy read the first and part of the second act, and when he turned to something else there was a feeling of regret. His "Terrible Meek" more than atoned for this in its gripping, stark realism, the tragedy of it being the first reading of the New Testament. After listening to the story of how a woman's son was done to death one went away with a more poignant feeling of what the war means to the masses in all the nations of the old world. Mr. Kennedy is to be thanked for making people think.

TO ERECT $1,000,000 BUILDING IN BOSTON

WOMAN'S BOARD OF TRADE PLANS TO CREATE NEW CIVIC AND COMMERCIAL CENTRE

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Plans are practically completed for a big million-dollar Woman's Board of Trade building for Park square, near the present Federal building and just at the downtown boundary of the big tract of land that has been acquired by the Park Square Real Estate Trust for development into a new civic and commercial centre.

The new building is designed to become the centre of all lines of business carried on by women. Its purpose will be to draw to Boston the estimated 100,000 women buyers who now pass this city by to make their purchases in New York and Philadelphia.

In addition to show rooms, arcades, and extensive floor space, a large portion of which has already been assigned to tenants under options, there will be a magnificent exhibition hall in which great quarterly style shows in millinery and gowns will be held. In this building all the activities of women in the business world will find a sumptuous and modern headquarters.

The first floor will contain large stores. The upper stories are divided into offices that may be rented either separately or in suites. On the top

THE BIRTHDAY OF KING VICTOR EMMANUEL

This being the birthday of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy and the day observed as a national holiday by the Italian people, the flag of Italy has been flown from the flagpole of the Sun building. The day is more familiar than many that have appeared there during the past year, it has three vertical divisions, green and white and red, with the seal of United Italy in the centre.

King Victor Emmanuel III was born Nov. 11, 1894. He entered the army in 1912 and in 1917 was commanding general at Naples. In 1918 he married Princess Helena, daughter of Prince Nicholas of Montenegro, and in 1920 he succeeded his father, King Humbert I, as king of Italy. Today the flag of Italy is seen in the war on the side of the allies.

floor will be a big restaurant and offices and rooms for the Woman's board of trade. Connected with the restaurant will be a roof garden dining room for use in serving diners in the summer months.

The big institution is the result of the efforts of Mrs. Charlotte Smith, president and treasurer of the Woman's Board of Trade of Massachusetts for 1920.

Immediately the project aroused the enthusiasm of numerous financial interests in Boston and New York, she says. It was, competition between these interests rather than lack of funds that held up the project.

Now the new building is backed by big Boston men and women, and $500,000 has been raised to pay for it. The land, the value of which has recently been boosted $100,000, will bring the total cost close to a million dollars.

The plans for the new building have been completed by S. V. St. Clair. The work will be handled through the office of R. Clifton Sturgis, the associate architect. The building will be five proof throughout with a front of white glazed terra cotta, with insulations of colored tile and terra cotta.

Mrs. Smith said yesterday that she has spent more than a thousand dollars recently having the name "Woman's Board of Trade" copyrighted in all the states in which there are leading business and commercial centres, so that no other state might start a similar institution and take the pioneer honor in this development from Massachusetts. New York and Chicago people have been keenly interested in the plan, she says, and it is probable that eventually the Woman's Board of Trade may be extended to a national association with branches in the prominent cities.

MAYOR CURLEY OUT FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

URGES STATE CONTROL OF CAMBRIDGE TUBE-ABOLITION OF EIGHT CENT CHECKS

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Mayor Curley advocated the state ownership of the Cambridge subway and the abolition of eight-cent checks, at the hearing held yesterday before the special commission appointed to consider the finances of the Boston Elevated company.

The mayor said: "If you find that the company is entitled to it I advocate the giving of relief in order that the public interest in the transportation of the city may be protected and the interest of this entire community."

"I favor the granting of authority to include areas at transfer points in the interest of public safety and convenience. I favor the abolition of the eight-cent check and the replacement of it with something that will give relief to the company without giving anyone reasonable ground for complaint."

"I advocate public ownership by the state of the Cambridge subway and the making of a lease to the Elevated at a rental sufficient to maintain the state. I recommend careful consideration of the company's suggestion that it be permitted to charge depreciation temporarily against premiums and that this remedy be adopted providing the commission believes that it can be applied without injury to the moral and material interests of the state."

The mayor stated that he would prefer to see a reduction in taxes rather than a reduction in fares if such legislation provided that the city could raise its tax rate to meet the deficiency. He estimated that the company lost $600,000 a year through the improper use of transfers.

Mayor Rockwood of Cambridge asked for more time to consider matters affecting the city. He favored a recommendation that the city of Cambridge be given an opportunity to purchase the subway before the state decides to take it over. Lieutenant Governor Condit asked that a hearing be assigned the citizens of Cambridge on Nov. 25.

MAINE HUNTER LOST IN THICK WOODS

HOULTON, Me., Nov. 11.—Alexander Anderson of Houlton, Me., is lost in the thick woods at Lano Brook on the Sebasticus river in Penobscot county. Mr. Anderson left his home Saturday, Nov. 4, in company with a hunting party of four. Thursday morning he left the rest of the party and has not been seen since.

After spending yesterday in hunting for him they got into communication with Houlton, and asked for assistance. A party of 50 left for Lano Brook, which is about 35 miles from Houlton, with the expectation of catching a crowd of woodcock from the towns of Oakfield and Smyrna Mills.

Mr. Anderson is about 55 years of age, and has had considerable experience in the woods. It is feared that some accident has happened to him. The searching party left by automobile, and a party of hunters, and will remain until a thorough search is made.

NEW SHIP LINE

Charles W. Morse Plans Passenger Line to Connect With the Metropolitan Steamers

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—According to reports in local shipping circles, a new passenger steamship line, under the direction of Charles W. Morse, will be inaugurated next spring between Boston and New York in competition with the present Metropolitan line.

Morse has secured control of the steamers Narragansett and Manhattan, which were built in 1913 for the Grand trunk railway to run between Prov-denance and New York in opposition to the New Haven lines. The service was never commenced, and the two vessels lay idle at New London since they were built. They cost $250,000. It is thought that Morse paid a million apiece for them if he purchased them, or that if chartered he will have to pay an immense sum for the use of the steamers.

Both vessels have well appointed passenger accommodations and spacious holds for freight. The new line, it is said, will use the Cape Cod canal and make daily trips in both directions.

DEER HUNTER SHOT BOY IN MOONLIGHT HUNT

HOLMNESS, N. H., Nov. 11.—Mr. taken for a deer by his companion while hunting by moonlight in the woods near here, Lloyd Perkins, 19 years old, was shot and probably fatally injured. Mark Martin, aged 35, who shot him, is in a demented condition as a result.

Fired three shots

The men entered the woods after dark and had bagged one animal when they decided to sparate. Some time later, Martin, seated in the crotch of a tree on the lookout for game, heard a noise in a thicket nearby. He waited for the form to emerge into the moonlight. But when it started to back into the darkness he banged away at it three times in rapid succession.

Rushing forward he found, instead of a deer, his companion. One bullet had pierced the breast and two others entered the shoulders. With difficulty he carried Perkins to his home. Dr. Huddins of Ashland, N. H., attended Perkins, and says his condition is critical.

No arrest has been made. It is against the law

THE DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

The republicans are holding out against hope that they can find some ground for claiming the election of Mr. Hughes or for contesting the election of President Wilson. They are waiting for official and certified returns. That is all right. Nobody wants to deprive Mr. Hughes of what belongs to him in this election.

There are some intimations of fraud, especially at Los Angeles, Cal., but if any fraud has been attempted, we venture to say it was in an effort to turn the tide in favor of Mr. Hughes. In the case mentioned it is reported that returns from outlying districts were received with seals broken and in face of a general trend to Wilson, these particular precincts gave big pluralities for Hughes.

The election is now secure for Wilson beyond any possible change that can come from recounts or legal contests. It is a great victory for the sovereign people as opposed to the "Old Guard" of the republican party, Wall Street and the predatory interests. The popular verdict sounds the death knell of the republican party except it reorganizes on new and progressive lines, drops the tariff bogey and the idea of having Wall Street control the credit and the currency of the nation.

Never perhaps in the history of this nation was the defeat of a presidential candidate sought by such a motley, selfish and unpatriotic combination as that which opposed the election of Wilson and fought by every means in its power to elect Mr. Hughes. The fact that these elements carried all the large states and New England shows how well they had planned the capture of the states which as they believed controlled the election.

Not in any election for the past twenty-four years has there been so much cause for rejoicing as there is at the present moment in seeing the disloyal elements that backed Mr. Hughes buried in irrevocable defeat. In saying this it is only just to state that seldom, if ever, has a democratic candidate for the presidency received such liberal support from fair minded republicans as did President Wilson. The better element of the republican party supported Wilson; the worst element of the democratic party furnished the most vociferous shouters for Mr. Hughes.

The republican leaders have seen the power of the people asserted in a manner that upset all their calculations. They are bitterly disappointed of course, but it is a glorious victory for progressive democracy, for patriotism and the kind of Americanism that can be relied upon to defend the nation whenever it is in danger.

ELECTORAL AND POPULAR VOTE

Well, it wasn't such a neck and neck race after all. President Wilson has a safe and clear majority of the electoral college, and hence the republican talk about recounts and other things will avail them nothing. Wilson has carried thirty or thirty-one states, leaving Mr. Hughes with seventeen or eighteen. That does not seem so very close. He will not be a minority president by any means as on the face of the returns he has a substantial majority of the popular vote which will be swelled still more by the belated reports.

The cumbersome machinery of the electoral college has on more than one occasion defeated the will of the people. In 1824 General Jackson received 50,551 more votes than John Quincy Adams who was elected. Again in 1876, Mr. Tilden received 250,935 more votes than did Mr. Hayes who became president through means not entirely honorable. In 1888 Mr. Cleveland received 98,917 more votes than Mr. Harrison who was inaugurated. If Mr. Bryan in 1896 had received 30,000 more votes in close states, he would have defeated McKinley who had a plurality of more than 600,000 of the popular vote.

The time may come when the people will demand the abolition of the electoral college on the ground that it defeats the will of the people. It is said to have its advantages in guarding against the choice of any man who is wholly unfit.

THE BOSTON DISASTER

That terrible accident in Boston on Tuesday night resulted from the failure of signal lights to appear or else to the failure of the motorman of the car to take due notice of them. As a result 47 lives were lost. There will be investigations of course that will result in nothing except to show that the precautions against accident were inadequate.

It has been customary for electric cars to stop on reaching railroad crossings and surely a drawbridge should be considered fully as dangerous as a crossing, especially at night. In the case in question a motorman drove a heavily laden car into an open draw landing car and passengers in the river with the result that 47 were drowned.

The railroad company and the state or municipal authorities are to blame. Signal lights are always more or less uncertain. They are liable to be extinguished by various causes and then—what? Why such an accident as that which shocked the city of Boston Tuesday night.

In some cases it requires such an accident to force the parties responsible to adopt proper safeguards. It required a Titanic disaster to induce the steamship companies to carry a sufficiency of life-saving apparatus and to adopt the rule of "Safety First." Such, unfortunately, is the presumption of safety, good luck, or whatever it may be called, that some people and some companies take the most desperate chances for lack of positive safeguards against the worst possibilities of disaster. In such cases the authorities should be held responsible. There should be no scapegoats.

THE WORST YET

One of the most desperate projects that Germany has yet attempted is the carrying off of young men and old from Belgium, it is alleged, for military service in her various armies. One can easily imagine what will happen to the Belgians who are drafted into the German army. They will be placed in the forefront of the battle and if they do not show a willingness

CUBAN ELECTION

The republic of Cuba has had election which passed off quietly in an manner quite similar to our own. President Menocal sought re-election and at first it was announced that his opponent, Dr. Zayas, was elected; but the later returns, as in our own case, show that the present incumbent has been re-elected. This is considered fortunate for the Cubans as the administration of President Menocal has been highly satisfactory while the elements represented by the other candidate appear rather turbulent in character. Cuba is to be congratulated on the result and on her prosperity during the past few years.

TREND IN MASSACHUSETTS

If Governor McCall's plurality of 41,000 indicates the normal republican vote of this state then there was quite a defection on the candidacy of Mr. Hughes whose plurality was but 21,000. Mr. Locke, too, got considerable of a showing as his plurality was about 32,000. Four years hence, Massachusetts will probably follow New Hampshire into the democratic column.

LOWELL STRONGLY DEMOCRATIC

The democrats of Lowell are to be congratulated on their work for the party ticket on election day. The result was good and yet by attention to organization it might have been better. The city is strongly democratic but its forces are unorganized. We should have a city committee of strong workers to back up the party candidates in every contest.

THE SUBMARINE WARFARE

Germany is unwilling to submit to the demands of Norway that her submarines shall not traverse Norwegian waters unless they appear on the surface flying their national colors. A similar order might be issued by this country in order to safeguard vessels within the three mile limit. Our own submarine controversy with Germany is becoming quite acute.

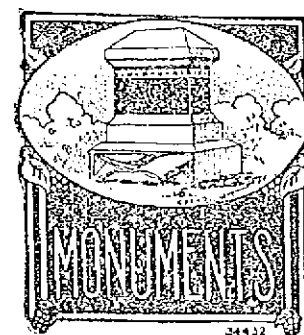

Japan apparently has no desire for the South Sea Islands as she has willingly agreed not to seek possession of them at the termination of the European war.

Epigrams of Success

I had hoped to give many of the Lowell hardware king, Mr. E. C. Simon's business epigrams and notices, since they throw light on his successful methods. There is space for only a few.

"Promptness is the essence of all good business."

"The difference between failure and success is doing a thing nearly right and doing it exactly right."

"Concentration means strength. Scattered means weakness. Having chosen one line of work or business, stick to it."

"Spend 15 minutes every night re-counting your day's doings and planning to do better next morning."

"Always put yourself in your customer's place."

"Character is the decisive force of business."

"I am a great believer in the business philosophy of encouragement."

"Settle claims promptly. The merchant who does not permit himself to be imposed upon occasionally will never get far."

"If any of your men, or any customer, gets into a hole, always leave him a foothold to get out easy."

"Quality of goods, confidence in your business, and in yourself, ability and readiness to anticipate conditions and to adapt yourself to them—these are some of the essentials to business success."—B. C. Forbes in Leslie's.

Jokes on the War

Is it true that we have all grown callous about the horrors of war? When it first broke out, everybody was trying to fix the responsibility and the news was followed with intense interest. The slaughters of the Marne and the Meuse and the Russian marshes made people turn pale and every hint of mediation for peace fell on sympathetic ears. Now, few talk about the war and readers for the most part scan over the headlines. There are no comments on stories of battles in which men fall by the hundreds of thousands. Has the war become a bore in which America shows little or no interest?

Be that as it may, we have not been so wholly indifferent that vaudeville jokes on the war are taken highly by all. From time to time some stage comedian with a distorted sense of what is funny and what isn't springs some cheap joke about the terrible thing in the old world, and for the time being many laugh. He's up to date, they think. Little do they realize that he is really laughing at the waste of time and money, the butchery and carnage and starvation, the murderous thunders and the rain of red hot metal before which the finest men in all the world melt and twist and dissolve like October leaves in a bonfire. Away with the war joke! There is nothing funny about it.

The Old Town Crier

In the good old days there used to be a town crier in the New England towns. But these criers went and nothing came to take their place, unless we except the newspapers, of course, until the installation of the fire alarm. Those took the place of the crier when there was fire. Then some one thought of having it take the place of the crier in notifying the school children when there should be no school, and of more recent date it was invaded again by having the signal sounded on the alarm system to notify the arrival home of the soldier boys. In some of the towns last summer arrangements were made for having the signal sounded on the fire alarm in case there should be no picnics, where the picnics were working so well that the plan was dropped. The town crier has gone, but the fire alarm system bids fair to take his place, more and more, as the occasions arise. And why not, so long as the system is paid for by the people and the use of it for these purposes do not interfere with the use for

Has anybody lost two cats? It's hoped nobody has.

Because two baby cats are here; and they were lost as faint.

TARNOSKI SUCCEEDS DR. DUMBA, RECALLED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary Lansing announced late yesterday that the Austrian government has named Count de Tarnowski-Tarnowski ambassador to the United States and that he had been accepted by this government. The succeeds Dr. Constantin Dumba, whose recall was insisted on by the United States last week because of his activities in the propaganda against American industries.

It was learned yesterday that the state department asked Austria and Turkey several weeks ago when they expected again to name ambassadors to this country and that it was inquired their appointment would be made when the two governments were assured their ambassadors could safely reach the United States. Turkey apparently has gone no further than to make this answer. It was not believed here that any great difficulty would be encountered if the United States asked the embassy to permit safe passage to this country of the envoys.

COMMUNICATION

Greek Orthodox Community, Lowell, Mass.

Office of the President.

Dear Sir—In the Sun of the 6th instant I read certain criticisms made by the school committee after a visit to the Greek parochial school.

As the president of the Greek community, under the direct control of whom the Greek parochial school is, I think it is my duty to make certain answers to the criticisms given by the said school committee.

First of all, I feel rather honored at that visit of the entire board, because it shows that some interest is shown in the Greek parochial school where some 250 boys and girls are receiving their first education.

But I can state, and that without fear of being contradicted, that the visit was rather accidental and the study of the conditions and curriculum in one word, the school, is not necessarily superficial, and the criticisms cannot and should not be given particular weight.

By that I do not intend to convey the impression that I and the other directors with me are not willing to heed any recommendation made or to be guided by the suggestions of the school committee, or that we shall not endeavor to do our best in case suggestions shall be made to us, but I must earnestly protest and make it most distinctly known to the gentlemen of the school committee when they make the assertion that expecting one, no boy attending the Greek parochial school could answer a very simple question in the English language.

Last year, also this year, I have been a member of the board of directors of the community and in different capacities, and I have always advocated the increase of the number of hours of teaching the English language to the Greek boys and girls, but for the same reasons that the city had discontinued the teaching in the evening elementary schools last year, that has not been done.

This year, however, and very shortly, another teacher for the English shall be appointed and that upon my urgent recommendation.

But as to whether the boys and girls of the Greek parochial school are in a position to understand what they are taught, I can state that they are.

I shall state that Miss Alice A. Smith, a Greek boy in the presence of a school committee man might have felt rather uncomfortable and that there is to be said, that they are not.

And in order to prove that my assertion is not made at random, but that it is based on good reasons, I shall ask the gentlemen of the school committee, don't they think that a young Greek boy in the presence of a school committee man might have felt rather uncomfortable and that there is to be said, that they are not.

And in order to prove that my assertion is not made at random, but that it is based on good reasons, I shall ask the gentlemen of the school committee, don't they think that a young Greek boy in the presence of a school committee man might have felt rather uncomfortable and that there is to be said, that they are not.

M'NAMARA BREAKS HIS COLLARBONE IN RACE

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The first accident to mar the six-day race row in progress at the Arena, happened early last night when the field was peeling at a terrific gallop during a lap-stealing "jam." Reggie McNamara of the McNamara-Spears team, rated as one of the best men in the grind, fell from his mount and broke his collarbone. He was forced to withdraw with his partner, cutting the field to nine teams.

It was easily the most thrilling night of the week. Continual sprints and jams changed the standing at one time and a later sprint put them all on even terms again. Carman and Wiley featured in all the early sprints.

A visitor from Nova Scotia, Caldwell by name, who had never seen a bike race, wanted action, so was advised to put up a $5 "prelim." This was at 7:30 o'clock. He got his money's worth to the measure, for the race resulted in a lost lap to the Carman-Wiley team. Carman won the prize, but was well tired out. The field took advantage of the fact that Wiley Carman's partner, was not in the oval. The field changed partners and in the sprint that followed Carman was lapped before Wiley could relieve him.

Two hours later, Wiley jumped the

TOOK OUT MARRIAGE INTENTIONS HERE

VETERAN OF MORE THAN FOUR SCORE YEARS WILL MARRY NASHUA NURSE
Nashua, N. H., Nov. 11.—Cornelius W. Chamberlain, aged 81, a veteran of the Civil war and Mrs. Mary A. Thompson, who confesses to 64 summers, both living on Harbor avenue, Nashua, have filed marriage intentions in Lowell.

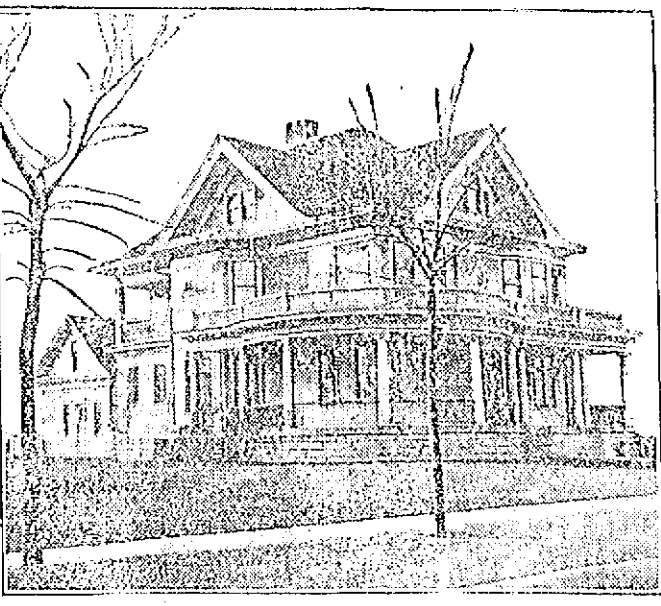

The story of the courtship is that Mrs. Thompson, who is a nurse, was called in to take care of Mrs. Chamberlain during her last illness. Her kindness and attention so appealed to the husband that, following his wife's death he went to board at the Thompson home.

After a year's courtship the couple

PRINCETON TEAM SPENT NIGHT AT COUNTRY CLUB

The Princeton football team, which spent last night at the Vesper Country club in Tyngsboro, left for Boston this morning on the 9:25 train and went directly to the Cambridge stadium for their battle with Harvard. A squad of players, rubbers, trainers and coaches numbering about 40 and in charge of Head Coach Rush, arrived at the club shortly before 6 o'clock. They spent a quiet evening and retired before 10 o'clock. This morning the squad had breakfast and left soon afterward without any practice.

IMMORTALITY
Dr. Swain Gives His Last in a Series of Sermons at High Street Church Last Evening
There was a large audience at the High Street church last evening to hear Dr. Swain in the last sermon of his series. The subject was "Immortality." Following are some of the points brought out:
"The greatest of all causes for losing our sense of immortality is in losing our sense of a love for God. You want to find him any more tomorrow than he is today, unless you have the heart to know him today. God is just as near here as he is near heaven. The heaven is always a matter of the character and development of those who make it. It depends upon the goodness and the sweetness of those who make it up. If you could swap people from the good heaven to a bad heaven, then things would be just reversed.
I am sure that God has done his very best to make himself known. If people want to cut off God from life at the very root, then the very life-giving element is taken right out of the life. People start off without the source and essence of life, and they never find it because it isn't there. They start wrong.
"A good deal of the religion of today is painting, trying to paint the different qualities of life as they should be. It is the essence of God that puts the real healthy redness into life. This is an age that is underfed religiously, and we cannot hope to get any real perspective out of such a starved age. You must get things right at the centre.
"The meaning of life is to know the one author and father and to build up the world in the image of his heart. The vision grows on us. If I have been getting along at all what a wonderful man he must be now. If all the sculptors, and painters and musicians are getting on what heights have they attained. If religion means life and humanity at their best it means growth and life and power and the glory of God."

SAYS N. E. MILL. MEN ARE BUNGLERS

HEAD OF N. E. TRADE PRESS ASSO. WARNS MANUFACTURERS AGAINST FOREIGN ATTITUDE

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—William H. Lough, president of the New England Trade Press Association, speaking last night at the dinner in the Hotel Army, declared that South American and European merchants look upon the New England manufacturer as a hopeless bungler with his business methods. He urged immediate action to correct the impression and urged the trade press to aid manufacturers in a fight to retain South American business gained by present war conditions.

"New England, along with the rest of the Atlantic seaboard, is already one of the world's great centers of manufacturing and information. It is here," he said, "that many of the world's greatest centers of shipping and foreign commerce."

"It is a fact essential to New England's prosperity that this country be realized. You are manufacturing and exporting goods to all parts of the world. You are manufacturing and exporting goods to all parts of the world. You are manufacturing and exporting goods to all parts of the world."

who the next president was. "This seems to be the way the American people view the situation today. Everybody is dividing a dollar and the farming districts they have one for the wife and another for the boys."

"The American people are in a shocking unpreparedness condition to cope with the industrial revolution which is sure to come after the war. If we continue until the end of the war, as we stand today on the top of the picket fence shifting our position when the pickets become too sharp, we can expect nothing different from England than that of debtor and creditor."

"England is looking at us thinking that we are scared, just as the banding down in Mexico look at us and know we are scared."

"If we don't change our policies before long, I think we will be in for a rocky some day, without friends, and I don't want to be abroad when that time comes."

In reply to the offer, the full textile council voted that special general meetings of all unions be held next Wednesday night to either accept or reject the proposition.

MAJOR IS PROBING THE EFFIGY HANGING

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Members of A Troop (National Lancers), First Squadron of Cavalry, M. N. G., who are alleged to have hanged Captain John Kenny in effigy at Fort Bliss, El Paso, 10 days before starting back home, will be tried at a summary court-martial, according to a statement made yesterday by Major Charles A. Schmitz, commander of the battalion.

Major Schmitz said that he is now engaged in a thorough investigation of the act, and that he has secured considerable incriminating evidence against several members of A Troop. "I am simply making an investigation, and I am slowly getting evidence that seems very incriminating," he said. "I am in possession of the names of several men who had connection with the incident, and you are at liberty to say that they will probably be court-martialed."

CARRANZA FORCES MOVE BIG PLOT TO INQUIRY INTO PROBLEMS OF R. R. REGULATIONS

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., Nov. 11.—The division of troops under Gen. Carranza, is officially announced here today, has begun to advance northward from Escobedo in two columns. One column is said to be proceeding from the north of the Mexican Central railway, repairing the track, while the other, consisting of 3000 cavalrymen, is paralleling the track on a hunt for bandits.

Military authorities here state that Villa is near the Durango border so that this movement will cut him off from the north of Mexico. Carranza, cape northward, place him between the forces of Carranza and the cavalry that Gen. Trevino would despatch from Chihuahua. The temporary fortifications encircling Chihuahua City, nine miles in circumference, are being enlarged and strengthened. A double row of barbed wire entanglements has been constructed outside of the infantry trenches while within three strong, earthen redoubts are being built. These redoubts hold 200 men each and are provided with artillery. Santa Rosa, the hill dominating the approach to the city, is fortified and armed with seven large calibre guns.

Gen. Gonzalez Cuellar, a classmate of Gen. Trevino's at the Chapultepec Military Academy and in charge of the fortifications, commands 3000 men, mostly veterans of the siege of El Paso, which held out 72 days against a Villa force double its size.

Gen. Trevino states he has plenty of ammunition for present uses, including shells for the artillery, which is commanded by Col. Sanchez. His cavalry force of 4000 men is equipped with machine guns and is held here ready to take the field at the first warning. There is also a machine gun to each infantry battalion of 300 men.

Mrs. Thurbull informed the court that her husband left her and her three children two weeks ago and all that she had in the house at the time were a few slices of bread and two pies. She said he was a heavy drinker and very violent. On the other hand he accused her of infidelity. He also claimed that while he was away she would let the children in the house and go visiting.

Shortly after 12:30 o'clock the court suspended until Monday morning.

SEWER OUTLETS PUBLIC HEALTH MENACE

The following is from a letter addressed to the board of health by the committee on waterways:

The waterways commission in its circuit about the Lowell waterways has observed the deplorable and unhealthy conditions existing at the sewer outlets on Wall street and Chestnut street. The Wall street sewer is choked by an accumulation of spring beds, hoops, iron rods, papers and other refuse thrown over the edge, frequently by the people living in the tenement blocks of that locality. In low water the sewer's discharge is emptied on the rocks of the river-bed and it will remain there as it has for more than a year until some decided pressure is brought upon the city to clean up the same and extend the brick sewer farther into the channel.

At the end of Chestnut street where the sewer pipe runs into the mill pond, the waterways commission has not only erected a substantial wire fence to protect the lives of children at that dangerous point, but in the interest of the health of the people it has employed men to clean up the accumulation of rubbish and filth at the sewer outlet and at the bottom of the mill pond. This sewer pipe should be extended into the river-bed.

There being but little prospect of our present sewer department taking the initiative in such matters pertaining to the public health or general welfare of the people the remedy lies within the province of the board of health and it seems to us imperative that drastic measures be taken either by the local board of health or state authorities to remedy the conditions at the above two mentioned places.

DEFAUD JAPAN TO INQUIRY INTO PROBLEMS OF R. R. REGULATIONS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 11.—A plot to defraud the Japanese government out of vast sums in duties on shipments to that country has been uncovered in the United States, according to S. Oyama, secretary of the department of agriculture and commerce of the imperial Japanese government, who is now in Pittsburgh. Activities of several suspects in Pittsburgh are being closely looked into, the secretary said, and the matter may be laid before United States officials. It is said shipments from this country, particularly from industrial centers, have been greatly undervalued and Mr. Oyama is convinced some high officials in Japan are implicated in the alleged tariff frauds, as well as Americans.

Secretary Oyama left here today for New York where he will hold a conference with the collector of that port. He expects to go to Canada where there are said to be ramifications of the alleged frauds.

EUROPEAN WAR NEWS FIGHTING IN DOBRUDJA

The issue in the Rumanian province of Dobrudja, where Russo-Rumanian forces are apparently attempting to regain possession of the Constantza-Tchernavoda railroad line, seems again to hang in the balance.

Russo-Rumanian Advance

Russo-Rumanian troops are advancing from the base of the Ploesti Marshes toward the eastern flank at Tchernavoda and other entente forces are close to the town along the route of the twelve mile long bridge and viaduct which spans the Danube and carries the railroad across the extensive marsh lands to the west of the main stream.

Soldiers reports under Friday's date that Bulgarian artillery compelled entente troops which had advanced to the west bank of the Danube to "retire toward Dunareav."

Petrograd on the other hand, yesterday announced the capture of the town by the Russians, located 120 miles west of Tchernavoda, which is said to mean that the Russians were approximately at the end of that portion of the bridge which spans the main stream.

Von Mackensen's Retreat

Unofficial advices from Bucharest today report von Mackensen's retreat in Dobrudja toward the Tchernavoda-Constantza railroad line continuing, with fires observed in the direction of these two termini in the route in Dobrudja, this being held to indicate the possibility that their evacuation is imminent.

Fighting on Somme Front

Fighting on the Somme front in northern France has, with the return of more favorable weather conditions, apparently been resumed on an increasingly important scale.

Allied Successes

London announces the storming last night of British troops with the return of more favorable weather conditions, apparently been resumed on an increasingly important scale.

BERLIN REPORTS ALLIED DRIVE ON SOMME Halted

BERLIN, Nov. 11, by wireless to Sayville.—German newspapers publish a statement from "competent military authorities" to the effect that the Anglo-French drive on the Somme has been halted by the exhaustion of the entente troops and their heavy losses and by unfavorable weather. The statement says:

"After the tremendous losses sustained by the British and French on Nov. 5, when they employed six British and four and one-half French divisions without success in an attempt to break our front between Le Sars and Bouchavesnes they have been unable to drive forward for large attacks over their exhausted and decimated troops over ground made impracticable by rain. All attempts have been still immediately by the fire of our artillery and machine guns and only south of the Somme and Pressoire did the French obtain insignificant local successes."

"Attacks launched repeatedly on Wednesday in St. Pierre Vaast wood, although continued until late in the night, was crushed by the tenacious resistance of the German troops. With the clearing of the weather the artillery on the Somme front for large attacks over their exhausted and decimated troops over ground made impracticable by rain. All attempts have been still immediately by the fire of our artillery and machine guns and only south of the Somme and Pressoire did the French obtain insignificant local successes."

RUSSIAN BOMBARDMENT OF ROMANIAN BLACK SEA PORT

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Russian bombardment of the Rumanian Black Sea port of Constantza is said by Reuters' Petrograd correspondent to have inflicted great damage. Reservoirs of benzine and naphtha were exploded and the resultant fires, fanned by the wind, spread rapidly and burned for two days. There was no means of controlling the fires, as the Rumanians had evacuated the port apparatus when they vacated the city.

The despatch says Bulgarian shore batteries were silenced and that heavy losses were inflicted on the warship.

PRICE ONE CENT

NEW WAGE AGREEMENT FOR BAY STATE CARMEN

Never before has such a liberal working agreement been offered to employees of the Bay State street railway as the one presented to members of the union all over the system for acceptance or rejection at meetings held last evening. It will affect 6000 employees of the company which controls lines from Newbury, N. H. to Nashua, N. H. Wage increases, better hours, and numerous other concessions are granted. While the vote on the new agreement has not yet been announced, local men are of the opinion that it will be practically unanimously accepted, and that it will be signed at a meeting of representatives of the union and the company this afternoon.

Wage increases of four cents an hour; pay for nine hours to operators of cars working eight and one-half hours, and wages for eight and one-half hours to operators of cars working only eight hours are among the provisions in the new agreement.

Fred Crowley, president of the local union and chairman of the joint conference board, was one of the fathers of the agreement. His efforts in this and other matters in behalf of the carmen have entailed considerable work, but never has he failed to do his best for those who have selected him as their representative. At the meetings held by the local union last night, after which the men voted on the agreement, great enthusiasm was shown, and when Mr. Crowley entered the rooms, he was accorded an ovation. Later in the night the men presented him a box of cigars.

The joint committee, which drew up the agreement, has been meeting since Sept. 30. The former agreement expired on October 1 of this year. Fred Crowley of Lowell, P. F. Sweeney of Brockton and John Reddon, of the executive board of the international union, represented the unionmen, while the company was represented by Pres. P. F. Sullivan and Vice Pres. Robert S. Coff.

In the agreement it is provided that in the event of the union and company being unable to agree on a third number of their arbitration board that Pres. Sullivan of the road and one of the international officers shall have the naming of the third member.

The features of the agreement in condensed form are:

Increases along the line are provided for, applying to all employees of the road except clerks in the accounting departments.

Conductors on snow plows are to receive an increase of five cents, or 45 cents an hour. The present wage is 40 cents. Motormen on snow plows will continue to get 45 cents an hour, as heretofore.

Men employed at instructing beginners are to receive four cents an hour instead of three cents, in addition to their regular wage.

The company is to pay 15 cents for reports of accidents, instead of 10 cents, as formerly.

Men operating cars eight hours are to receive wages for eight and one-half hours.

Men operating cars eight and one-half hours are to receive wages for nine hours.

The principal sections of the agreement, which was read last evening are appended:

WOMAN HAS SEAT IN CONGRESS, FIRST TIME IN THE NATION'S HISTORY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. (PRES. WILSON SPEAKING) AND MISS RANKIN

Miss Jeannette Rankin, elected to the national house of representatives from Montana, is a source of particular pride to the National Suffrage association, inasmuch as she was for a number of years one of its most valued organizers and the standard bearer who carried her cause for suffrage. She is a republican in politics. Jeannette Rankin is a member of a well to do banker's family of Missoula, Mont. In 1905 she was graduated from the New York School of Philanthropy, went to Seattle, Wash., filed a position of "baby sitter" for a year, found that wasn't her métier and quit finding child homes for infants to join the women fighters in Washington. She stumped and organized in the Washington campaign and received no remuneration. "It was for the cause," she said in referring to it. She became later the fiscal secretary of the National Woman Suffrage association. House listening to President Wilson and Miss Rankin in pictures.

MESSAGES OF CONGRATULATION
MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 11.—Messages of congratulation from suffrage leaders in many parts of the country poured into Missoula yesterday for Miss Jeannette Rankin, republican, the first woman to be elected to congress. Miss Rankin's campaign managers contend that she had been 431 men's successful by at least 2000 majority.

"I felt that the women would stand by me," Miss Rankin said yesterday. "It is wonderful to me to think of having the opportunity of being the first woman to sit in congress with employees are respectively employed, and upon request will furnish transportation to a reasonable extent for other parts of the company's system.

No Discrimination Against Union
Sec. 11. The company will do nothing to prevent or discourage any employee from becoming or continuing to be a member of the association, and will in no way discriminate against any member thereof because of such membership. The association will not discriminate against any person in the employment of the company because of his refusal to join the association.

All employees who are now or who may hereafter become members of the association shall be considered as members of the association, and shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges of membership in the association.

Arrangement of Schedules
Sec. 12. In the arrangement of schedules as far as possible, the company shall make nine hours to be completed within eleven consecutive hours, consistent with the remainder being arranged to the best advantage in runs of not less than eight or more than one and one-half hours to be completed within twelve consecutive hours except that not more than twenty per cent of the total runs may exceed nine hours.

The company will use all available parts of regular runs and regular extra trips to make such runs. Crews losing an extra trip scheduled as part of a run shall have priority preference in selecting a substitute run, but shall be one not used in any other run. Runs shall be made on the basis of six hours being the limit of continuous work and in no case shall 12 hours be exceeded if unsatisfactory to the men at the car house after and before for dinner or supper shall be at least one hour in length.

When the company desires a man who has been continuously employed for not less than twelve consecutive hours to try for a regular position, he shall be given a sufficient time to go home to his meal or be furnished a meal by the company.

Schedules as posted shall be picked up by the committee of any division dissatisfied with such posted runs in conference with the company.

Men having regular runs or doing any work except snow work with outside time extra shall be paid extra compensation at the rate of fifteen (15) per cent of the employee's regular hourly rate for the first excess hour or fraction thereof, and at the rate of thirty (30) per cent for any other excess.

The basic principle for work required of extra men shall be nine hours and shall be completed insofar as possible within twelve consecutive hours, and only in extreme cases shall they be required to work beyond fourteen consecutive hours. Extra men required to report and so reporting shall be guaranteed a minimum of six hours within fourteen consecutive hours and receive six hours pay for the same and work performed after the fourteenth hour shall be paid for in addition to the six hours' guaranteed time. Work after the fourteenth hour shall be paid additional compensation at the rate of twenty-five (25) per cent of the employee's regular hourly rate for the first excess hour or fraction thereof, and at the rate of thirty-five (35) per cent for any further excess.

Runs containing eight hours and less than eight hours and runs containing eight hours and less than eight hours and runs containing eight hours and less than eight hours shall be paid nine hours. All other runs shall be computed in fifteen minute periods.

In the arrangement of schedules all runs of thirty minutes or less shall be paid for as part of the run. Where regular or extra motormen and conductors are required to go to and from the car house or operating center to their work they shall be allowed traveling time for the same, and shall become a part of the scheduled run.

Men running extra trips starting before eight o'clock a. m. shall be allowed a minimum of two hours for the same and the same shall apply to all early morning crews required to report to cover the list; provided that such allowances shall not result in a double payment for any work done during such two hours.

The present practice as to reporting shall continue. In the event of an extra man overstepping, he shall report as soon as possible, but will lose his guarantee for that day unless used, but must be given work from his place at the foot of the spare list in preference to any regular or call man.

Extra Pay for Instructing New Men
Sec. 13. Any conductor or motorman promoted to starter, inspector, foreman or other official position, shall be given twelve months to try for the same, and if he does not return to his car in the above stated time, he shall lose his rating.

Sec. 14. When any conductor or motorman is requested to instruct or in other phrase "break in" a man, he shall be paid at the rate of four (4) cents per hour therefor.

Sec. 15. When a member of the association in the mechanical or miscellaneous departments has been suspended or discharged, and the association finds after investigation that it is a case of injustice has been done him, it shall have the right to take the case up, first with the general foreman in that the spare list in preference, and if satisfactory adjustment is not reached, it shall have the right to appeal the case successively to the general superintendent, the division superintendent and to arbitration, as provided for in section 1; and if it is determined that such employee was unjustly suspended or discharged, he shall be reinstated in his former position, and paid for all time lost.

All conferences and decisions requested under the above paragraph shall be granted as promptly as possible, but not exceeding the following:—by the general foreman within three days after being notified, and a decision within three days thereafter; by the general superintendent within six days after receiving notification, and a decision within four days thereafter; and by the head of the department within six days, and a decision within five days thereafter.

General foreman and general superintendent conferences shall be held locally in the division concerned.

Sec. 16. The hours for all men in the mechanical and miscellaneous departments, except those now working on a basis of less hours, which shall remain as at present, shall be nine hours per day to be completed within nine consecutive hours on week days and eight hours to be completed within nine consecutive hours on Sundays and holidays. The men shall be arranged and posted and men allowed to choose in accordance with their seniority subject to the provisions of section 17, at least once a year.

The Rate of Wages
Sec. 17. The rate of wages for conductors and motormen shall be based upon the present rate and graduated scale as follows:—

JAPAN AND FRANCE GLAD PRES. WILSON WON

THE PRESIDENT

TOKIO, Nov. 11.—The re-election of President Wilson is welcomed by the Japanese press, which praises his peaceful disposition and believes his continuation in office augurs well for the furtherance of American-Japanese friendship. Business circles are pleased as they feared a republican protective tariff would be a blow to Japanese exports to America.

FRANCE LIKES RESULT

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The newspapers, while giving prominence to the news of the American election express little opinion as to the result. What comment there is, is sympathetic to President Wilson.

The Petit Journal says: "President Wilson's victory is highly satisfactory to us for two reasons. The first is that for four years American foreign policy will be free from all electoral considerations as the constitution forbids President Wilson from seeking a third term; the second reason is that the result of the election must put new life into American neutrality."

Evidently an immense majority of the electorate pronounced against war but apart from the millions of voters who approved the victor with which the president forced the Germans to recede on the submarine war question, other millions voted for Hughes because he demanded an even firmer defense of American rights. The chief executive is obliged to take into account this double wish. Just as Hughes could not have ignored the verdict against war, so Wilson must take into consideration the condemnation of a line of policy which Roosevelt has characterized as "backhanded."

The Matin and the Parleur express the same view. The latter concludes: "It is because he played a very honorable role in a moment of a grave crisis that the American people have renewed their mandate to President Wilson."

LONDON TRIBUTE TO WILSON
LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Manchester Guardian attributes President Wilson's success to the rallying of a sufficient number of the progressive votes which Roosevelt gained in 1912.

"It seems a small thing," this newspaper continues, "but it may indicate a new epoch in American political life. The progressive movement arose entirely independently of foreign politics. Many progressive votes given to Wilson are given with the mental reservation that they will not go again to a democratic candidate unless Wilson continues the faith of the progressives by consolidating what is still only tentative. If he does that he will have established himself as the ablest statesman since Lincoln, and he may be destined to play a part in the achievement of peace which will give him a place in world history."

Sec. 21. This agreement and the provisions thereof shall go into effect on the 1st day of October, 1916, and shall be binding upon the Bay State Street Railway company and upon said association, and the said several local divisions thereof, and upon all persons who are now or who at any time hereafter during the continuance hereof become members in said association, and shall remain in full force up to and including May 1st, 1920, and after that date the parties shall be free to make any desired change or changes in any section or sections.

had any intention or knowledge of becoming one of Mr. Wilson's official family. He stoutly insisted that he intended to return to Harrisburg to look after the management of his newspaper.

But the underground political currents yesterday buzzed incessantly on this subject and in many quarters it was regarded as reasonably certain that Mr. McCormick would be offered the place, whether he accepted it or not. And a certain democratic leader who labored side by side with the national chairman during the campaign, broadly indicated that the gossip had more than ordinary foundation.

The president thinks very highly of Mr. McCormick's ability as an executive, as was evinced when Mr. Wilson forced the democratic convention in St. Louis last June to accept him as the national chairman. The closest personal relations exist between the two, and the president's implicit reliance on the judgment of the Pennsylvania editor during the campaign is cited as proof that he will ask Mr. McCormick to become one of his official advisers.

WILLIAM M. FAIRBANKS OF J. C. AYER CO. DEAD

William M. Fairbanks died this morning at 12:15 o'clock at his residence, 21 Hoyt avenue. Mr. Fairbanks was the younger son of the late Moses and Frances Moulton Fairbanks of Boston. He leaves one sister, Miss Ella A. Fairbanks of Boston, and one brother, the Hon. Henry C. Fairbanks of Quincy. Deceased was a member of the Y.M.C.A., the Quincy Hall School association, Monument Lodge, Royal Arcanum, and the well known Fairbanks family association.

Mr. Fairbanks was well and favorably known in this city, having had entire charge of the advertising department of the J. C. Ayer Co. for 10 years. In business circles throughout New England Mr. Fairbanks was well known and highly esteemed. The death of his wife a short time ago preyed upon his mind and undoubtedly hastened his end. In the circle in which he moved Mr. Fairbanks was beloved for his genial manner, his kindness of heart and obliging disposition. He had proved himself a very efficient advertising manager during his years of service with the Ayer company and none regrets his untimely demise more than Dr. Stowell, manager of the Ayer company's business. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday.

SECURITY OF WAR

The New York Sun today prints the following: Political gossip yesterday had it pretty well settled that Vance C. McCormick, democratic national chairman, is to be taken into President Wilson's cabinet as secretary of war to succeed Newton D. Baker, who has announced that he will resign March 4th.

When this subject was broached to Mr. McCormick he followed the usual custom of successful campaign managers and vigorously denied that he

HARVARD 3, PRINCETON 0

DARTMOUTH 7, PENN. 7

BROWN 21, YALE 6

STADIUM, Cambridge, Nov. 11.—A field goal by Horween was the margin of Harvard's victory over an almost equally matched Princeton eleven in the stadium today. Defensively the Tigers proved Harvard's equal and stopped many Crimson plays which had been effective against other teams. Offensively Harvard was able at several times to gain enough ground through Casey's elusive runs to threaten Princeton's goals. Only by abortive attempts at long goals from the field did the Tigers menace the Harvard line. Princeton's reliance in its extremity was the forward pass from various formations but generally it failed.

The Tiger players defeated for the first time this season were in tears as they left the field. Harvard supporters cheered Casey for his effective punning attack and Horween for his accurate toe.

Princeton Wins Toss
The luck of the toss fell to Princeton and Capt. Hogg chose to receive the ball.

Horween kicked off, Moore fumbling the ball twice, but eventually regaining it after a 12 yard rush back. Driggs booted to midfield where Murray made a fair catch. Murray slipped past Nourse for five yards. A moment later he lost a forward pass over Highley's head to Casey for another five yard gain. Then Casey fumbled and was downed without gain or loss.

After Casey had been turned back by McLean for a one yard loss Murray sent the ball through the air, again over Highley's head, to Coolidge who planted it on Princeton's 35-yard line. Murray tried another forward pass which failed and Princeton gained the ball on their own 35 yard line. Picking a kick, Driggs circled Harte's end for a gain of three yards.

Both Teams Penalized
The next time he kicked to Murray who fumbled on Harvard's 28-yard line where Highley caught the ball. Princeton put it into play on their 28-yard line. Rushes by Eddy, Thomas, Moore and Driggs penetrated several points of the Harvard line for a total gain and first down at the 15-yard mark. Here Princeton was set back 15 yards for holding. Harvard off side activities brought Princeton five yards forward. It was first down on Harvard's 23 yard line against Thomas' stubble. The Princeton line was annoyed by Thacher of the Crimson secondary defense after gaining five yards. Moore added two through Wheeler Thomas was grasped by Harte without gain. Princeton lacked half a yard of first down. Thomas' attempt to gain succeeded only by inches. Measurements showed, however, that Thomas failed to gain the distance. Harvard's ball.

Horween punted to Driggs who was downed where he caught the ball on Harvard's 45-yard line. Driggs, on the next play, resorted to the air for advance but Horween was in the way and intercepted the pass. Crimson strategy dictated another kick which Horween sent to Princeton's 35-yard line. There Eddy fumbled, Moore recovering. Driggs kicked to Murray. He signalled for a fair catch at the 20-yard mark.

Casey Makes Gains
Murray punched Hogg's position for to be taken when Casey shifting his stride to throw off tacklers, circled Princeton's end for five yards.

Eddy was stunned momentarily in making the tackle.

Casey knifed Princeton's left forward line for a four yard advance. Horween pushed the ball four yards farther through the same players and Casey gained just enough to make it first down in midfield. Murray here attempted a forward pass. Casey, running from behind, grasped the ball and tore through a hole opened between Moore and McLean for three yards. Then, warding off all tacklers by use of straight arm and shifting stride the elusive Harvard back twisted his way to the 35-yard line. He made five more or another rush past Capt. Hogg.

Horween gained three yards before Hogg downed him.

Casey was stopped by Highley after a yard advance. Murray's next attempt was by forward pass but this failed, Princeton becoming possessor of the ball on its 27-yard line.

Driggs Made Ten Yards
Driggs rushed ten yards from the fake kick formation before he was hauled over by Sweetser's diving tackle.

Harvard squelched Eddy's rush but he managed to push the ball half yard and required to make it a set down.

Sweetser broke in on Princeton's play but the Princeton line men started before the ball which again cost the Tigers five yards. Moore made up this loss and two yards more on an impulsive rush against Capt. Dadmun.

On Driggs' kick Casey caught the ball at Harvard's 12-yard line and advanced five yards.

Horween kicked at once. Eddy caught the ball on Harvard's 23-yard line only to drop it. Harte pounced on the ball and Harvard again had the opportunity to rush. Horween started the attack with a two yard gain, continued it by adding two more each time clipping around Princeton's right guard.

Driggs Broke up Play
Murray passed the ball to Thacher, who made a forward pass 25 yards down the field, where Driggs broke up the play. Horween made an attempted pass for good standing on the 10-yard line but it fell five yards short.

As a touchback the ball was brought out to Princeton's 20-yard line.

Horween kicked over the Princeton line for a touchback. The Tigers put the ball in play at twenty yards. Driggs punted long to Murray who, catching the ball on the 10-yard line, was able to advance but two yards. Horween shouldered Capt. Hogg aside for a five yard gain. Casey snatched the Tiger lines for two yards more.

Horween attacked Hogg again and it was Harvard's first down on Princeton's 42-yard line. The game of Princeton forwards stopped Casey with no gain. Murray's rushing attempt was smothered by Capt. Hogg and McGraw. The Harvard quarterback then tried a forward pass which also Princeton players frustrated. Then Horween kicked, his punt falling dead on Princeton's 24-yard line. Driggs' deceptive kicking attitude was again used to advantage when he rushed seven yards around Harte's end. The latter nailed Thomas on the next play but not until Princeton had gained first down.

Driggs kicked at once. Murray fumbled on Harvard's 30-yard line, the ball bounding from his hands to those of Conner who held it on Harvard's 35-yard line. Princeton started a rushing attack and two rushes had gained several yards when the period ended with the ball on Princeton's 24-yard line.

Score first period: Princeton 0; Harvard 0.

SECOND PERIOD
Illegal interference by Princeton first rank players cost the Tigers a 15-yard penalty on the opening play of the second period which was of tricky nature which had confused the Crimson men in the closing moments of the first period. Driggs' forward pass attempt fell to the ground.

Driggs with two fellow interferences battered a two yard gain through Harvard's left side. The snap back on the next play was almost smothered by Harvard's impetuous line men and Eddy was downed for a loss. Funk here replaced Wilson.

Funk kicked from the 43 yard line but the ball barely cleared the heads of Harvard players and fell to the ground at 15 yards. Casey rushing it back 24 yards before being downed on Princeton's 40-yard line.

Driggs raced through a broken field 17 yards until he fell over one of his own men downed by a Harvard defender.

Eddy's rushing attempt failed when he fumbled and recovered. Moore was unsuccessful in the fake kick play. Sweetser downing him for a considerable loss.

Driggs and Eddy Gain
Driggs ran the ball four yards and then punted to Murray who caught it out of bounds on the 25-yard line.

Horween kicked to Eddy who was stopped by the Crimson ends.

Driggs went back to punt but the rush was a short one, intended to bring the Tigers nearer the center of the field.

A forward pass, Driggs to Thomas moved the ball to a Princeton first down within a yard of midfield.

Another forward pass, with Eddy as the receiver, added 15 yards more.

Princeton's tricky cross-arms rushing play was started again with a forward pass variation, but it failed.

Funk went back in position for a placement kick with the ball on the 43-yard line only to have Eddy grasp the ball from before his toe to start a forward pass which Harvard broke up. On the next play Funk kicked but the ball again grounded five yards from the goal. Harvard started from the 20-yard line but Horween soon punted to Princeton's 40-yard line.

Driggs was grasped by Wheeler for a yard loss in trying to repeat his pretended punt play.

Eddy was stopped without gain twice.

Score end second period: Harvard 0, Princeton 0.

The play during the first two periods demonstrated that both Princeton and Harvard carried a stronger defence than offense. At no time was either eleven able to carry the ball inside the opponent's 20-yard mark and the nearest approach to scoring was futile attempts for field goals. The Princeton players were exceedingly fast both on offense and defense and uncovered several trick plays which gained ground the first two or three times tried against the Crimson.

Once to the tricky wind which swept and eddied about the Stadium, fumbling was frequent following punts. The Princeton ends were down the field much faster under kicks than the Crimson wing tips.

The tackling by both elevens was hard and clean and there was little advantage one way or the other in punting.

Driggs did the best work for Princeton, making several long runs from kick formations in which he was afforded excellent interference. Harvard made no attempt in its attack to use other than the usual deceptive and shifting plays but Princeton with its loose running half back charges on the line and short forward passes opened a line of offense which puzzled the Crimson and was good for gains until the idea was ceased. From that point on Princeton seemed to threaten the Crimson goal line during the remainder of the half.

THIRD PERIOD
With the goals reversed again Harvard defending the south, Princeton kicked off in the third period. Funk kicked a ball to Horween on Harvard's 5-yard line where Horween passed to Casey and the latter gained 16 yards. Dadmun was hurt in interfering but held his place after examination by a physician.

Horween and then Casey were thrown against the Princeton lines for short rushes until Horween was called on to kick. Eddy, who caught the ball on his 23-yard line, was downed by Harte. Driggs attempted a rush against Harvard's right end but Coolidge broke through and tackled him for a 2-yard loss. Thomas went through the Harvard line for two yards.

Driggs kicked outside at Princeton's 42-yard line. Horween in two rushes moved forward to within a yard of first down.

Casey gained the distance required and two yards more. With 30 yards to go, Harvard started a series of rushes for the goal.

First of these was a Horween rush against Capt. Hogg, who was knocked over for a Harvard 5-yard gain. Casey made three to the right of the line, then two of the left for another first down. At this point Coach Rush sent Winn into the game and Princeton suffered a 10-yard disadvantage when the ball was given to Harvard on the 5-yard line. It was explained that Winn talked to Capt. Hogg without the referee's sanction.

Horween charged twice for a gain of a yard each time. Princeton held Murray a half yard. Harvard's eagerness in holding cost them 15 yards.

Horween Kicks Field Goal
Horween standing on his 26-yard line kicked a field goal.

Score: Harvard 3, Princeton 0.

Funk's kick off rolled along the ground till Murray stopped it and was downed at 33 yards. Casey gained six yards. Then Horween kicked to the 12-yard line and Eddy was downed without run back.

Driggs Kicked 55 Yards
Driggs had gained only a yard before Coolidge stopped him. Under his goal posts he kicked fifty-five yards down the field where Murray caught the ball and brought it back two yards.

Horween broke through Hogg and McGraw for a three yard advance, but in another attempt against Nourse's position he was held firmly.

On a forward pass to Coolidge the latter making a difficult catch, only to drop the ball when he was tackled. It became Princeton's ball on their 35-yard line.

Moore raced against Harvard's right wing but could gain only two yards. Quarterback Eddy's attempted forward pass failed because of inaccuracy.

Thomas was downed by Dadmun without gain.

Driggs booted to the 17-yard line where Murray caught the ball and ran back four yards then dropping the ball. Casey recovered. Thacher gained two yards in a rush against Capt. Hogg.

Casey Made 17 Yards
Casey eluded seven Princeton tacklers successfully in swinging from a kick formation around Princeton's right end for 17 yards. Ames was sent in at quarter back for Princeton replacing Eddy. He made the tackle on the first play when Casey went 12 yards down the field. Brown replaced Thomas in Princeton's backfield.

Casey dropped the ball on the next play. Brown recovering and racing 30 yards to midfield until he was tackled from the rear by Harte. The latter was replaced immediately by Phinney, limping off the field.

Halsey went in for McGraw in Princeton's line.

Brown made a five yard gain past Snow. Princeton attempted to deceive Harvard forwards by a multiple pass but Moore was downed for a loss. Ames, fumbling on the pass was downed by Snow without change of position.

Driggs kicked 42 yards to Harvard's 15-yard line where the ball went out of bounds.

Flower Replaces Horween
Flower went in for Horween. He kicked out of bounds at Harvard's 42-yard line. Harris, the Harvard center, was replaced by Wiggin. Score end third period: Harvard 3, Princeton 0.

FOURTH PERIOD
Princeton started the fourth period on Harvard's 42-yard line.

They were set back at once to midfield when Snow downed Moore behind his line for an 8-yard loss. Driggs gained two yards before Thacher from the secondary defence moved up to stop him. A forward pass by Driggs was intercepted by Murray and it was the Crimson's ball on its 23-yard line.

Flower Makes 13 Yards
Casey rushed out of bonds to the 30-yard line. Flower was downed without gain. Flower found a hole between Hogg and McGraw and rushed 13 yards before Driggs downed him.

Turning to the left, Flower gained two yards.

Casey gained another yard through General.

Flower kicked to Ames, who ran the ball five yards into Phinney's arms.

Ames gained five yards. Sweetser tackling.

Brown added two, Phinney stopped him.

Driggs went back as if to kick but Brown grabbed the ball and forced his way past Capt. Dadmun for eight yards.

Wheeler stretched his long arm over the Princeton line to catch Moore by the neck almost before he started.

Ames was a victim of Phinney. Driggs passed the ball 20 yards. Brown to Funk, for a net gain of six yards.

Brewer Replaces Coolidge
Then Driggs kicked, Murray being downed by four Princeton tacklers almost as he caught the ball. The Tigers joint assault on Murray lamed him for a moment but he resumed play. Brewer replaced Coolidge.

Flower on the first rush made a yard. Casey was stopped without progress.

Flower kicked again. Ames caught the ball on the 40-yard line and ran it back seven yards. The ball was called back to where the play started in order to give Harvard the benefit of a Princeton penalty for off side play. The teams had seven minutes to play.

Dadmun was replaced by Clark.

Flower, running 30 yards to the left gained only five.

Casey broke through 10 Princeton players starting outside McLean and stopping beyond midfield, tackled by Ames, the last man between him and the Tiger goal.

Flower downed Casey in the next play and Flower was stopped by Nourse without gain.

Bond replaced Thacher.

Flower kicked to Princeton's five-yard line and Ames ran the ball back 11 yards, until Brewer tackled him.

Driggs threw a forward pass 35 yards but it fell on the ground between Princeton and Harvard players.

Illegal interference by Harvard forwards with Princeton's pass gave the Tigers 15 yards.

Another Princeton pass fell into Flower's hands and Harvard again had the ball on her 42-yard line. Rushes by Bond and Flower gained six yards.

Casey's rush against the line was blocked by Hogg. As a result Flower kicked 55 yards from his position, Ames running it back from the Princeton goal line 16 yards.

A forward pass, Driggs to Ames, gave the Tigers 16 yards more.

Moore was overhauled by Sweetser without gain on an attempted swing. Driggs sent another forward pass down the field but it failed of its mark.

Princeton resorted to the forward pass as a quick gain but this time Murray, Harvard's quarterback, intercepted the ball and stopped the Tiger's last attempt to move down the field. The game ended with the ball in Harvard's possession in mid-field.

Final score: Harvard 3, Princeton 0.

BROWN DEFEATS YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 11.—Brown, with an unbroken record of victories this season, entered the annual football game with Yale here today and added another victory by the score of 21 to 6. The lineup:

Yale	Brown
Moseley, lg	le, Marshall
Gates, lt	K. Devall
Black, lg	lg, Wade
Hutchinson, c	c, Sprague
Fox, rg	rs, Farnham
Comerford, re	re, Weeks
Smith, qb	qb, Purdy
Carey, lb	lb, Jemall
Neville, rlb	rlb, Pollard
Stewart, fb	fb, Hillhouse

A field goal by Braden of Yale was the only scoring in the first period. Yale threatened to cross the Brown line for a touchdown at one time, but the latter held the Blue for downs on the three-yard line. Yale kept the visitors on the defensive during the whole period. Score: Yale 3, Brown 0.

In the second period Braden made another field goal from the 30-yard line. Yale out-punted Brown consistently and the forward passing to which the visitors resorted frequently failed to bring them within striking distance of the Blue goal. Just before the period closed Yale attempted a forward pass, but Pollard intercepted it on his own 35-yard line. Score end second period: Yale 6, Brown 0.

Brown took the lead in the third period, starting the period with an aggressive attack. A series of rushes through the line and a 33-yard run by Pollard around the end carried the ball to Yale's 3-yard line, where the Blue held four times on downs. A forward pass carried the ball over for a touchdown, from which goal was kicked.

Score end third period: Yale 6; Brown 7.

In the fourth period Pollard took the ball on Braden's kick and ran 55 yards for a touchdown from which goal was kicked. Brown got another touchdown when a series of rushes advanced the ball 50 yards and a forward pass, Hillhouse to Purdy, took it over the line. Purdy kicked the goal.

Final score: Yale, 6; Brown, 21.

DARTMOUTH 7, PENNSYLVANIA 7

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 11.—The University of Pennsylvania football team met Dartmouth in what was regarded by the Pennsylvania supporters as one of the most important contests on the Quaker schedule. Both teams were anxious for victory to help atone for earlier defeats and an exciting game featured by forward passes and other open plays took place. The lineup:

Pennsylvania	Dartmouth
Urquhart, lg	le, Dussossoi
Matthews, lt	lt, Trifer
Hennings, lg	lg, Youngstrom
Wray, c	c, Glio
Edwards, rg	rg, Neely
Miller, re	re, Cotton
Bryant, qb	qb, Austin
Dorr, lb	lb, Cannel
Williams, rlb	rlb, Thielscher
Light, fb	fb, Gerrish
	fb, Duhamel

Referee, Tufts (Brown); umpire, Pultz (Brown); head linesman, O'Brien (Swarthmore); field judge, Crowell (Swarthmore).

In the first period Pennsylvania showed a good offensive and tackled well. In the middle of the period the Quakers got the ball, went in their own territory and by consistent hammering of the Dartmouth line carried it nearly half the length of the field before Dartmouth stopped the rush. Then a punt by Pennsylvania went for a touchback. The period ended with the ball in Dartmouth's possession in mid-field.

Score: Dartmouth 0, Penn 0.

In the second period a 33-yard forward pass, Gerrish to Edwards, who was playing fullback, placed the ball on Pennsylvania's 19-yard line. After failing to penetrate Pennsylvania's line Gerrish tried a placement field goal from the 23-yard line and failed. Later a 15-yard run by Light, a forward pass Bryant to Williams, and a 15-yard penalty against the visitors put the ball on Dartmouth's 5-yard line. Pennsylvania made another yard and the period then ended.

Score: Pennsylvania 0, Dartmouth 0.

Pennsylvania fumbled early in the third period and lost the ball on her own 25-yard line but on the next play got it again on an incomplete forward pass. Pennsylvania punted and Thielscher ran the ball back 30 yards to Pennsylvania's 23-yard mark. Then Gerrish again failed at a placement field goal. Subsequently Pennsylvania fumbled on her own 35-yard line and Gerrish picking up the ball ran to Pennsylvania's 5-yard line. Dartmouth with Cannel carrying the ball, had little trouble in scoring a touchdown. Thielscher kicked the goal.

Score: Dartmouth 7, Pennsylvania 0.

A fumble by Cannel in the final period gave Pennsylvania the ball on Dartmouth's 33-yard line but Dartmouth on the next play recovered it on a Pennsylvania fumble. A forward pass, Gerrish to Emery, brought the ball to Pennsylvania's 40-yard line. Dartmouth worked the ball to Pennsylvania's 15-yard line and then lost it attempting to score a touchdown on a forward pass. Then Pennsylvania carried the ball from her own 20-yard line by short rushes and forward passes to Dartmouth's 20-yard line. Here Berry was given the ball and breaking through Dartmouth's line ran for a touchdown. Quigley kicked the goal, tying the score. The game ended with the ball in Pennsylvania's possession on her own 30-yard line. Final score: Dartmouth 7, Penn. 7.

He now lies in a Methuen hospital, resting as comfortably as can be expected. It is said that his hip is fractured. Mr. Trull who is employed with his father, Frank, as a gardener, was delivering boxes to a store on Oak street. He was lifting a box from the wagon when the runaway horse appeared on the street. Trull had a box on his shoulder and failed to heed the cries of several bystanders who warned him to get out of the way. He was struck by one of the wheels and knocked down. An automobile was secured and he was rushed to the hospital.

THE NEW YORK BOXING BOARD TO STAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—With the reelection of Gov. Whitman, two members of the boxing commission are reasonably sure of reelection, Chief Judge Charles J. Sweeney and Judge John F. Franchi. The boxing commission held its annual meeting last night at the Hotel New York. The board will step out of office next January unless reappointed.

On the appointment of a successor to Franchi hinges the question of the reelection of the board. Chief Judge Sweeney, who has been in office for two years and Frank Franchi's term does not expire for a year. John Franchi will step out of office next January unless reappointed.

open date at the garden within ten days and that the Moha-Weinert bout must take place there before Moha boxes elsewhere.

Pullok seemed to be apprehensive that Moha must up Moha so that the "Cave Man" would be unimpaired in polite Queensberry society on the occasion of his meeting with Weinert. Weinert called attention to the fact that before a boxing match can be held in the garden the referee must first leave the arena to a new corporation, which in turn must apply for a new license to hold bouts. Therefore the commission will not interfere with the Moha-Moha bout.

By way of convincing the public that he is not afraid to meet the Moha, Weinert, in the ring, Johnny Kilbane, through his manager, posted a check for $5000 with a Cleveland newspaper. Kilbane says the check is posted as a "guarantee of good faith" for a match with Moha. However, it is not a question of good faith, but one of weight. Kilbane weighs 135 pounds, while Moha weighs 145. The latter declares he will not make less than 135 at 2 p. m. Kilbane might post a check for $50,000 as a guarantee of good faith, but if the men cannot agree on weight there is no chance for a match.

TEXTILE GAME HALTED BY DARKNESS

The Lowell Textile school football team won its second game of the week on the Textile campus yesterday afternoon by defeating the Huntington Preparatory school of Boston. The score was 9 to 6. The game was turned to the game after an absence of four weeks strengthened the local team considerably. He kicked a goal from placement on Huntington's 25-yard line about two minutes after the start of the game. As each team made a touchdown afterward the goal proved the winning margin for Textile.

The Textile touchdown was made by Plaisant in the second period after an attempted hunt by Huntington. The hunt was blocked and Plaisant fell on the ball as it rolled over the goal-line. Berry failed to kick the goal.

The Huntington touchdown came after one of the Textile backs had fumbled a pass. Downing, the speedy Huntington right end, fell on the ball and plunged across the line. Snow made an unsuccessful attempt to kick the goal. The game was called at the end of the third period on account of darkness. The lineup and summary:

GIBBONS DEFEATS DILLON ON POINTS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 11.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul outpointed Jack Dillon of Indianapolis in a 10-round decision contest here last night. Gibbons won on points. Three seconds went to Dillon and the other nine to Gibbons. Gibbons weighed 142½ and Dillon at 162, the latter one pound under the agreed weight.

Round One—The men went into a clinch. Dillon forced Gibbons to the ropes, the latter shot two sharp lefts to the jaw. Dillon came again and in a brief exchange Gibbons was effective lefts gave him the round.

Round Two—Both men proved ready fighters in the second period, but again Gibbons' effective left made Dillon's efforts virtually fruitless. The St. Paul phenom stepped out of Dillon's swings and turned them into wild drives. Gibbons' footwork and left jab favored him.

Round Three—Dillon attempted to get Gibbons at the outset of the third session, but the local lad pulled away with left and right swings to the jaw. The Hoosier came back strong, however, and kept Gibbons moving all the time. Just before the bell the men went into a clinch and broke away with a forward jab from Gibbons. Gibbons' round by a shade.

Round Four—Both men showed some inclination to feel each other out, but when Dillon pressed matters, Gibbons came back with high piston drive lefts, effectively keeping the Indianapolis man away. Dillon got in two short blows, but Gibbons' clever footwork kept him out of danger. It did not even seem as if Gibbons' round.

Round Five—Gibbons' side-stepped Dillon's attack at the outset of the round and when the Indianapolis man sought to rush Gibbons to the ropes, he ducked a sweeping right and they went into a clinch. Gibbons' effective lefts kept him out of danger. It did not even seem as if Gibbons' round.

Round Six—Gibbons' side-stepped Dillon's attack at the outset of the round and when the Indianapolis man sought to rush Gibbons to the ropes, he ducked a sweeping right and they went into a clinch. Gibbons' effective lefts kept him out of danger. It did not even seem as if Gibbons' round.

Round Seven—The men went into a clinch, and as they broke away Dillon swung for Gibbons' head, but the latter ducked and slipped into a clinch. Gibbons' effective lefts kept him out of danger. It did not even seem as if Gibbons' round.

WILSON ASKS ALL TO FORGET DIFFERENCES

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 11.—"Now that the campaign is over we may all address ourselves to the welfare of the nation without thought of partisan feeling," declared President Wilson in his first public speech since the national election, delivered before a delegation of Williamstown residents and Williams college students who erected him here last yesterday.

The president was welcomed by the students and townspeople after the christening of Eleanor Axson Sayre, the second child of his daughter, Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, and for whom he stands as godfather.

Unite For Common Service
In a speech last night before several thousand persons who came from nearby towns to congratulate him on his re-election, President Wilson said: "I want to say that now the campaign is over we must think of only one thing, and that is not of parties, but of the interest of the great country we all love. Let us forget all our differences and unite for common service. Only in that way can we work for the great nation that has given us liberty and peace."

Came to Forget Politics
Soon after his arrival at the home of his son-in-law, assistant to the president of Williams college, the delegation headed by President H. A. Garfield of the college, and Samuel P. Blodgett, chairman of the Williamstown common council, marched to the Sayre home. The president spoke from the porch of the house, and was cheered enthusiastically by the students.

"I came here to forget the field of politics and for a brief time to come simply to visit my daughter and to attend a simple ceremony here today," he said. "Now that the campaign is over, we may all address ourselves to the welfare of the nation without thought of partisan feeling."

Defines Politics
The president referred to his service as chief executive of Princeton university, saying he knew from experience there was politics even in the running of a college.

"Politics," he continued, "is after all a means of getting something done, of putting forward ideas. It is a fight, but the man who does not love the fight has no red blood in his veins."

Mr. Wilson told a story of a man

having a vision in which he was offered a horn and a sword, and chose the horn. Immediately the vision vanished and the man was cursed. He took the horn before the sword. He told the story to illustrate the necessity for fighting.

Speeches Full of Wisdom
Mr. Garfield, a son of President Garfield, declared the president's words during the campaign had been "full of wisdom and light." He added: "We wish you Godspeed in your great office."

When the president arrived here this afternoon he found a stack of telegrams three feet high congratulating him on his re-election. They came from cabinet members, senators, representatives, government officials and leading democrats. He will reply to none of them until his return to Washington, since no stenographer accompanied him.

Soon after his arrival with Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Helen Woodford Bones, his cousin, the president went to St. John's Protestant Episcopal church to attend the christening.

Baby Cries Continuously
The family party rode the few blocks to the church in an automobile. The baby cried continuously. Inside the church only a few intimate friends of Mrs. Sayre witnessed the ceremony.

As one of the godfathers of the baby, President Wilson promised the name of the child to "renounce the devil and all his works." The other godfather was the Rev. James M. Sayre, brother of Francis B. Sayre, the godmothers were Miss Margaret Wilson, Mrs. W. G. McLeod, her sister, Miss Blanche Nevins, and Mrs. R. H. Sayre, mother of Mr. Sayre.

The family party stood about the baptismal font as the Rev. J. A. R. Carter, rector of the church, read the service. Afterward the president paid a call on President Garfield.

To Washington Tonight
Last night the family had dinner together at the Sayre home. The president will remain here until 5:25 o'clock this afternoon and then will return to Washington, where he is due to arrive Sunday night.

On his way here the president was cheered by crowds at Troy and several other towns in New York and Massachusetts.

those on the outside will direct their attacks principally at the two men now in office. There is not the slightest doubt that before it is over some of those on the outside will be getting after each other.

Chance for a Bargain
The democrats who are going to celebrate this evening might strike a good bargain by applying at the Courier-Citizen office where there is on hand a choice lot of red fire and flags, which is of no further use to its present owners and which they might be willing to sell at a sacrifice. Only a small portion of the original lot has been used for shortly after the New York Times announced the election of Hughes and the first sticks of red fire were lighted other announcements came over the wire which caused a permanent suspension of the Courier-Citizen's pyrotechnic display.

Sparks the Come-Back Man
A former chairman of the republican city committee, disesteemed by the city council, said yesterday: "We had it all figured out that Colburn would win by at least 1500 and when the returns came in showing the great vote received by John T. Sparks we were astonished. The fact that he would poll such a vote after being out of politics for a year or more shows that he has lost none of his vote-getting ability and that he will be a dangerous candidate next year if he runs again."

And if the democrats had had an organization such as the republicans had working at the polling places on election day Sparks would have received many more votes than he received as it was.

Hour Cuts Around
Roger Sherman Hoar was in town yesterday and called at The Sun office to pay his compliments to the editor. He proposes to convince the public of Lowell by means of affidavits from the proper parties that certain statements concerning him attributed to Congressman Rogers were misleading. "I'm going to convince Congressmen Rogers," said Mr. Hoar, "that I own that farm. I'm going to invite him all over it to some day and show him all over it. Then I'll give him a spade and allow him to take some of the land home with him."

The Official Count
One frequently heard during the anxious moments pending the announcement of the belated returns, the statements: "What's the matter with those people in the west? don't they know how to count? How is it that our returns and those of New York are all in the same state? While it takes them three days to get in their count."

Those who made such statements fail to realize that the official votes of Massachusetts and of New York have not been announced yet as they have not been counted up by the secretary of state. There is no question as to the identity of the winning candidates, like Massachusetts, New York, Ohio and others, the first or unofficial count figured up by the party organizations and the press from the returns from the different cities and towns is accepted as the official count. The count that we have been waiting for all week from California and the other states is the official count of the secretary of state.

THE SPELLBINDER
Many invited friends of Rogers Hall gathered last evening with the pupils and faculty and enjoyed two delightful hours in listening to an author's reading by Charles Rann Kennedy, the noted playwright. With the unmistakable touch of genius he held the attention of his audience from first to last and with all the arts of intonation, facial expression and subtle shading brought home to them the pathos or tragedy or humor of the scene he depicted. There was no point of scenery or other distraction to interfere with the central theme, and when the author-reader gave the lines of "The Servant in the House" or "The Terrible Meek" it was master of every mood of the audience.

The first reading was from the New Testament, the story of the blind man appealing for aid to Christ; the story of Christ writing in the sand and finally the story of Lazarus. The poetical and biblical language brought to the audience in the rhythmic measures of the verse, and the dramatic possibilities of the text were obvious. From "The Servant in the House," Mr. Kennedy read the first and part of the second act, and when he turned to something else there was a feeling of regret. His reading brought home to the audience for this in its gripping, stark realism, the allegory of it recalling the first reading of the New Testament. After listening to the story of how a woman's son was borne to death one went away with a more poignant feeling of what the world means to the masses in all the nations of the old world. Mr. Kennedy is to be thanked for making people think.

TO ERECT $1,000,000 BUILDING IN BOSTON
WOMAN'S BOARD OF TRADE PLANS TO CREATE NEW CIVIC AND COMMERCIAL CENTRE
BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Plans are practically completed by the building Woman's Board of Trade for a new building for Park square, near the present Paine building and just at the downtown boundary of the big tract of land that has been acquired by the Park Square Real Estate Trust for development into a new civic and commercial centre.

The new building is designed to become the centre of all lines of business carried on by women. Its purpose will be to draw to Boston the estimated 100,000 women buyers who now pass this city by to make their purchases in New York and Philadelphia.

In addition to show rooms, arcades, and extensive floor space, a large portion of which has already been assigned to tenants under options, there will be a magnificent exhibition hall in which great quarterly style shows in millinery and gowns will be held. In this building all the activities of women in the business world will find a sumptuous and modern home.

The first floor will contain large stores. The upper stories are divided into offices that may be rented either separate or in suites. On the top

THE BIRTHDAY OF KING VICTOR EMMANUEL

This being the birthday of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy and the day observed as a national holiday by the Italian people, the flag of Italy has been flown from the Marpole of The Sun building. The flag is more familiar than many that have appeared there during the past year. It has three vertical divisions, green and white and red, with the seal of United Italy in the centre.

King Victor Emmanuel III was born Nov. 11, 1868. He entered the army in 1887 and in 1897 was commanding general at Naples. In 1899 he married Princess Helena, daughter of Prince Nicholas of Montenegro, and in 1900 he succeeded his father, King Humbert I, as king of Italy. Today the flag of Italy is seen in the war on the side of the allies.

floor will be a big restaurant and offices and rooms for the Woman's board of trade. Connected with the restaurant will be a roof garden dining room for use in serving diners in the summer months.

The big institution is the result of the efforts of Mrs. Charlotte Smith, president and treasurer of the Woman's Board of Trade of Massachusetts of 120 Boylston street.

Immediately the project aroused the enthusiasm of numerous financial interests in Boston and New York, she says. It was competition between these interests rather than lack of funds that held up the project.

Now the new building is backed by big Boston men and women, and $500,000 has been raised to pay for it. The land, the value of which has recently been boosted $100,000, will bring the total cost close to a million dollars.

The plans for the new building have been completed by S. W. St. Clair. The work will be handled through the office of R. Clifton Sturges, the associate architect. The building will be fire proof throughout with a front of white glazed terra cotta, with insertions of colored tile and terra cotta.

Mrs. Smith said yesterday that she has spent more than a thousand dollars recently having the name "Woman's Board of Trade" copyrighted in all the states in which there are leading business and commercial centres, so that no other state might start a similar institution and take the pious Bostonian in its development from Massachusetts. New York and Chicago people have been keenly interested in the plan, she says, and it is probable that eventually the Woman's Board of Trade may be extended to a national association with branches in the prominent cities.

MAYOR CURLEY OUT FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Mayor Curley advocated the state ownership of the Cambridge subway and the abolition of eight-cent checks, at the hearing yesterday before the special commission appointed to consider the finances of the Boston Elevated company.

The mayor said: "If you find that the company is entitled to it, I am ready to give relief in order that a comprehensive scheme of rapid transit development may be executed in the interest of this entire community."

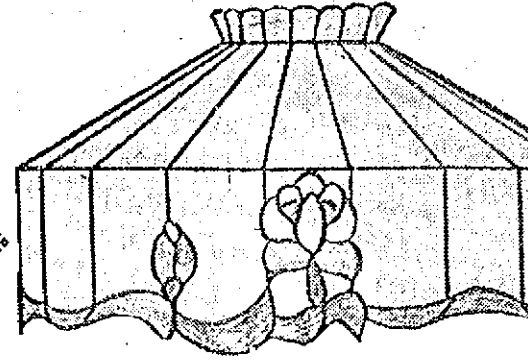

I favor the granting of authority to include areas at transfer points in the state of public safety and convenience, and the making of a lease to the Elevated at a rental sufficient to reimburse the state. I recommend careful consideration of the company's suggestion that it be permitted to charge depreciation temporarily against premiums and that this remedy be adopted providing the commission believes that it can be applied without injury to the moral and material interests of the state."

The mayor said that he would prefer to see a reduction in taxes rather than a reduction in fares if such legislation provided that the city could raise its rate to meet the deficiency. He estimated that the company lost $1,000,000 a year through the improper use of transfers.

Mayor Rockwood of Cambridge asked for more time to consider matters affecting the city. He favored a suspension of the city's obligation to purchase the subway 10 percent the state to take it over. Lieutenant Governor Coolidge asked that a hearing be assigned the citizens of Cambridge on Nov. 25.

MAINE HUNTER LOST IN THICK WOODS

HOLTON, Me., Nov. 11.—Alexander Anderson of Holton, Me., is lost in the thick woods at Lane Brook on the Sebasticus river in Penobscot county. Mr. Anderson left his home Saturday, Nov. 4, in company with a hunting party of four. Thursday morning he left the rest of the party and has not been seen since.

After spending yesterday in hunting for him they got into communication with Holton, and asked for assistance. A party of 50 left for Lane Brook, which is about 35 miles from Holton, with the expectation of gathering a crew of woodsmen from the towns of Oakfield and Smyrna mills. Mr. Anderson is about 35 years of age, and has had considerable experience in the woods. It is feared that some accident has happened to him. The searching party left yesterday with supplies, with plenty of provisions, and will remain until a thorough search is made.

LOWELL PEOPLE SHOULD ACT IN TIME

If you suffer from back ache, if you have headaches, dizzy spells, if the kidney secretions are irregular, Don't delay—likely your kidneys are sick. Lowell people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's a Lowell man's experience: T. D. Finnegan, 23 Agawam St., Lowell, says: "My worst trouble was too frequent action of my kidneys, especially at night. The kidneys burned in passage. My back also gave me a lot of trouble and I had a dull ache in my loins all the time. Often sharp pains darted through me and if I bent over, I could hardly get back up again. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me." (Statement given October 30, 1914.)

A LASTING CURE

On July 14th, 1915, Mr. Finnegan said: "I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. The cure they gave me has been lasting."

THE SPELLBINDER

Even the Courier-Citizen reluctantly and not any too gracefully has at last admitted that President Wilson has been re-elected and there can be no doubt about it. The Sun had shown that he was elected in its last issue Wednesday evening, the Courier-Citizen with its screen and stereoscopic gave a picturesque illustration of the traditional drawing man and the straw, and it clung to the straw broke upon the announcement by The Associated Press that Wilson had carried California. Like Jim Backer, the County Chairman or old Jethro Bass, the Courier-Citizen clung to everything until the final returns were in and then figuratively cried, "It was a lie!" The publisher of the paper, which our faithful but misguided neighbor has sent forth for the past month he is now entitled to a free sail along the lonesome waters of Salt river with a fine dish of crow upon reaching his destination. It was really a shame to be obliged to pull in those flags which were tawny from every window of the Courier-Citizen building on Tuesday evening when the New York Times conceded Hughes' election. The Associated Press would not concede it, but the Courier-Citizen in its intense anxiety to reorganize the democratic city committee, Hughes win, took the word of a New York stranger before that of its own press service and set out its trapings of victory only to be obliged to furl them again 24 hours later. It was a hard fight to lose, brother, but cheer up, you still have the Kaiser to wallow.

Demagogue Disappointment

While the Lowell democracy is rejoicing over the election of President Wilson much disappointment is expressed on all sides over the outcome in Lowell, the claim being made that a proper effort was not made to get out the democratic vote, and the responsibility is placed at the door of the few men who call themselves the democratic city committee. There were automobiles enough to carry every democratic voter to the polls if properly handled, but they were not and as a result hundreds of democrats were unable to vote, or if they were able to, didn't go because they were not sent after. Already a movement is afoot to reorganize the democratic city committee and the attorney-general and chairman of the democratic state committee have been appealed to, for their advice and assistance. The law states that the city committees shall organize in January, but those who profess to know claim that there has not been a regularly organized democratic city committee in Lowell since 1912. The law also states that the city committee shall be composed of the state primaries. Only three wards in Lowell had democratic ward committee candidates on the ballot in the recent state primaries. Wards 2 and 7 presented the names of a full ward committee while ward 9 had three names for ward committee and then they were elected. The city committee cannot legally organize themselves into a city committee as they are not numerous enough to form a quorum of the whole committee. Those who are interested in reorganizing the city committee are endeavoring to find out from the proper legal authority if it will be possible for them to elect ward committees in the other six wards and thereby have an entire city committee for next year. A well known democratic discussing the matter with the writer said yesterday: "We are trying to ascertain if it is possible to organize a democratic city committee composed of men who will work for the best interests of the whole party. If we find we cannot do it then we shall organize a democratic club composed of responsible citizens who next year will take the management of the democratic campaign regardless of the handful who claim to be the democratic city committee. There'll be a live democratic organization in Lowell next year. Sparks might have been elected if the vote was gotten out."

The Municipal Campaign

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the time for filing nomination papers by candidates for municipal council and school board will expire. At this writing but four candidates for commissioner and two for school board had filed their papers, though it was not expected that there would be any rush to file them before the closing hour. Each nomination paper requires 25 signatures approved by the registrars of voters though all papers contain some 50 names, to provide for any that may not pass the inspection of the registrars. The candidates for commissioner will be elected and three members of the school board. Commissioners Duncan and Putnam will be candidates for reelection. Report on the street yesterday had it that Dr. Lambert would not file papers while another report stated that Herbert Elliot will not be a candidate for reelection.

The primaries will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 21, 10 days hence and thus the several candidates will be on the jump from this time out. It is understood that there will be considerable speech-making before the primaries, particularly if this weather holds out, and it is supposed that

W'NAMARA BREAKS HIS COLLARBONE IN RACE

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The first accident to mar the six-day race now in progress at the Arena, happened early last night when the field was peddling at a terrific gait during a lap-stealing "jam." Reggie McNamara of the McNamara-Spears team, rated as one of the best pairs in the grand, fell from his mount and broke his collarbone. He was forced to withdraw with his partner, cutting the field to nine teams.

It was easily the most thrilling night of the week. Continued sprillings and jams changed the standing at one time but a later sprint put them all on even terms again. Carman and Wiley featured in all the early sprints.

A visitor from Nova Scotia, Caldwell by name, who had never seen a bike race, wanted action, so was advised to put up a $5 "prelim." This was at 7:30 o'clock. He got his horse's worth in the measure, for the jam resulted in a lost lap to the Carman-Wiley team. Carman won the prize, but was well tired out. The field took advantage of the fact that Wiley, Carman's partner, was not in the oval. The field changed partners and in the sprint that continued Carman was lapped before Wiley could relieve him.

Two hours later, Wiley jumped the field and handed over a lead to his partner.

When the team had opened up a three-quarters of a lap lead on the field, Sullivan fell and McNamara banged him and spilled headlong. It was claimed that Bill Spencer roughed Sullivan. It was in this jam that McNamara was injured, and in this jam also Carman and Wiley regained their lost lap.

TOOK OUT MARRIAGE INTENTIONS HERE

VETERAN OF MORE THAN FOUR SCORE YEARS WILL MARRY NASHUA NERSE

Nashua, N. H., Nov. 11.—Cornelius W. Chamberlain, aged 84, a veteran of the Civil war and Mrs. Mary A. Thompson, who confesses to 66 summers, both living on Harbor avenue, Nashua, have filed marriage intentions in Lowell.

The story of the courtship is that Mrs. Thompson, who is a nurse, was called by to take care of Mrs. Chamberlain during her last illness. Her kindness and attention so appealed to the husband that, following his wife's death he went to board at the Thompson home.

decided to get married.

Corporal Chamberlain, who is a native of Canada, came to Nashua when a boy and at the age of 25, at the outbreak of the Civil war, he enlisted in Co. F, 1st N. H. Vol. as a cook.

After serving a few months he was transferred to Co. B of the 10th N. H. regiment and was made corporal.

He served his country and was in numerous engagements until he was wounded at Fort Harrison, Va. He spent several months in the hospital, receiving his discharge, for disability, Jan. 16, 1865.

Mrs. Thompson is well known in Nashua as a nurse.

GIANTS RELEASE RITTER

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Bill Ritter, the young Giant pitcher, who has three strikes and missing the last few seasons in New York batters, serving intermediate terms in Toronto, Rochester, Harrisburg and Scranton, has been released to Louisville by the Giants, and this time Bill is gone for good. It is understood that he will help pay for Pitcher Jimmy Middleton, Louisville's crack pitcher.

The Giants already have sent Fitchers Ruben Schuch, Emilio Palmero and Ralph Stroud, Outfielder Wade Kilfer and Catcher Lew Wendell to Louisville in payment for Middleton.

Middleton, who was said to be the best minor league pitcher in the country last season, has forwarded his contract for 1917 to the Giant office.

Pitcher Al Schacht, formerly of the Newark Indians, who was bothered with a poor arm last season and was released, will be given a chance to show something in the Giants' Marlin training camp next spring.

MINSTREL AND WHIST

Over 300 persons attended the minstrel and whist conducted by the Jolly Five club, the C. M. C. last evening. Odina Chandonnet acted as master of ceremonies and the program, which proved very entertaining, was conducted without the slightest hitch. IMMORTALITY

Dr. Swain Gives His Last in a Series of Sermons at High Street Church Last Evening

There was a large audience at the High Street church last evening to hear Dr. Swain in his last series of sermons. The subject was "Immortality." Following are some of the points brought out:

"The greatest of all causes for losing our sense of immortality is in losing our sense of a love for God. You must make it up, if you could swap people from the good heaven to a bad heaven, then things would be just reversed."

"I am sure that God has done his very best to make himself known. If people want to cut off God from life, let the very root, then the very life, living element is taken right out of the life. People start off without the source and essence of life, and then never find it because it isn't there. They start wrong."

"A good deal of the religion of today is painting, trying to paint the different qualities of life as they should be. It is the essence of God that puts the real healthy redness into life. This is an age that is underfed religiously, and we cannot hope to get any real perspective out of such a starved age. You must get things right at the centre."

"The meaning of life is to know the one author and father and to build up the world in the image of God's heart. The vision grows on us. If David has been getting along at all what a wonderful man he must be now. If all the sculptors and authors and musicians are getting on what heights have they attained. If religion means life and humanity at their best, it means growth and life, and power and the glory of God."

SAYS N. E. MILL MEN ARE BUNGLERS

HEAD OF N. E. TRADE PRESS ASSO. WARNS MANUFACTURERS AGAINST FOREIGN ATTITUDE

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—William H. Lough, president of the New England Trade Press association, speaking last night at their dinner in the Hotel Avery, declared that South American and European merchants look upon the New England manufacturer as a helpless bungler with his business methods. He urged immediate action to correct the impression and urged the trade papers to aid manufacturers in a fight to retain South American business gained by present war conditions.

"New England, along with the rest of the Atlantic seaboard, is already one of the world's great centers of manufacturing for international markets," he said. "It may in the course of a few years become also again one of the world's greatest centers of shipping and foreign commerce."

"It is a fact essential to New England's prosperity that this prophecy be realized. You are gradually—and inevitably—losing your domination over the processes of manufacturing within the United States. The central west and south are meeting you in direct competition, with many advantages behind them."

"Where can your energies and your capital find an easier outlet than in the great foreign markets which have been thrown open—which are indeed clamoring for the products of the American factory?"

"It is a shock to find that our business methods are looked upon as hopelessly crude and bungling. It is time we stopped putting ourselves on the back and began to give a little more serious thought to the question: 'How can we improve our methods and make profitable business relations with foreign countries?'"

"Before the European war England and Germany were easily the dominant traders in most of the large competitive markets. These countries enjoyed vast advantages as compared with the United States."

"We should not overlook the fact, however, that long before the European war the United States was showing steady gains year after year in their export of manufactured goods. American shoes, typewriters, cash registers, collars and shirts, automobiles, watches, textiles, machinery, sewing machines, oil and steel have already been introduced into every market of the world."

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Dr. Hugh Cabot, chief of the Harvard Surgical Unit, in France, who is in this country on leave of absence, in an address before the Master Builders' association yesterday afternoon severely criticized the American people for not taking a definite stand in the European war, and charged them with being "money mad."

"One of the objects of my return to this country was to get the American point of view of the situation," he declared. "I think I have not it, and it makes me feel as if I had typhoid fever."

"American people are drunk with prosperity. Drunk with pretty work. Everyone has been making money and all are satisfied, but there is going to be a lot of fellows as crass as the deer when this industrial slump comes."

"There are a great many people in this country who think the Lord has changed his residence to Washington. I heard one man say the other day, he had made so much money during the past year that he didn't care a rap who the next president was. "This seems to be the way the American people view the situation today. Everybody is driving a devil wagon and in the furthest districts they have one for this wife and another for the boys."

"The American people are in a shocking unpreparedness condition to cope with the industrial revolution which is sure to come after the war. 'If we continue until the end of the war, as we are today on the top of the picket fence shifting our position when the pickets become too sharp, we can expect nothing different from England than that of debtor and creditor.'"

"England is looking at us thinking that we are scared, just as the bandits down in Mexico look at us and know we are scared."

"If we don't change our policies before long, I think we will be in for a racket some day, without friends, and I don't want to be aboard when that time comes."

OFFERS 10 PER CENT INCREASE TO 35,000

FALL RIVER, Nov. 11.—A general advance in wages of 10 per cent for 35,000 mill operatives was offered last night by the Cotton Manufacturers' association, to go into effect Dec. 4 and continue for six months. In reply to the offer, the full textile council voted that special general meetings of all unions be held next Wednesday night to either accept or reject the proposition.

MAJOR IS PROBING THE EFFIGY HANGING

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Members of A Troop (National Lancers), First Squadron of Cavalry, M. N. G., who are alleged to have hanged Captain John Kenny in effigy at Fort Bliss, El Paso, 10 days before starting back home, will be tried at a summary court-martial, according to a statement made yesterday by Major Charles A. Schmitz, commander of the battalion.

Major Schmitz said that he is now engaged in a thorough investigation of the act, and that he has secured considerable incriminating evidence against several members of A Troop.

"I am simply making an investigation," he said, "I am in possession of the names of several men who had connection with the incident, and you are at liberty to say that they will probably be court-martialed."

CARRANZA FORCES MOVE BIG PLOT TO INQUIRY INTO PROBLEMS OF R. R. REGULATIONS

TO CUT OFF BANDITS

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., Nov. 11.—The divisions of troops under Gen. Murguia, is officially announced here today, has begun to advance northward from Escalon in two columns. One column is said to be proceeding up the line of the Mexican Central railway repairing the track, while the other, consisting of 3000 cavalrymen, is paralleling the track on a hunt for bandits.

Military authorities here state that Villa is near the Durango border so that this movement will cut him off from the north or in event of his escape northward, place him between the forces of Murguia and the cavalry that Gen. Trevino would dispatch from Chihuahua. The temporary fortifications encircling Chihuahua City, nine miles in circumference, are being enlarged and strengthened. A double row of barbed wire entanglements has been constructed outside of the infantry trenches while within three strong earthen redoubts are being built. These redoubts hold 300 men each and are provided with artillery. Santa Rosa, the hill dominating the approach to the city, is fortified and armed with seven large calibre guns.

Gen. Gonzalez Cuellar, a classmate of Gen. Trevino's at the Chihuahua Military academy and in charge of the fortifications, commands 3000 men, mostly veterans of the siege of El Paso, which held out 72 days against a Villista force double its size.

Gen. Trevino states he has plenty of ammunition for present use, including shells for the artillery, which is commanded by Col. Sanchez. His cavalry force of 4000 men is equipped with machine guns and is held here ready to take the field at the first warning. There is also a machine gun to each infantry battalion of 300 men.

The following is from a letter addressed to the board of health by the committee on waterways:

The waterways commission in its report about the Lowell waterways has observed the deplorable and unhealthy conditions existing at the sewer outlets on Wall Street and Chestnut Street. The Wall Street sewer is choked by an accumulation of spring beds, hoops, iron rods, papers and other refuse thrown over the fence, presumably by the people living in the tenement blocks of that locality. In low water the sewer's discharge is emptied on the rocks of the river-bed and it will remain there as it has for more than a year until some decided pressure is brought upon the city to clean up the same and extend the brick sewer farther into the channel.

At the end of Chestnut Street where the sewer pipe runs into the mill pond, the waterways commission has not only erected a substantial wire fence to protect the lives of children at that dangerous point, but in the interest of the health of the people it has employed men to clean up the accumulation of rubbish and filth at the sewer outlet and at the bottom of the mill pond. This sewer pipe should be extended into the river-bed.

There being little prospect of our present sewer department taking the initiative in such matters pertaining to the public health or general welfare of the people the remedy lies within the province of the board of health and it seems to us imperative that drastic measures be taken either by the local board of health or state authorities to remedy the conditions at the above two mentioned places.

EUROPEAN WAR NEWS FIGHTING IN DOBRUDJA

The issue in the Rumanian province of Dobrudja, where Russo-Rumanian forces are apparently attempting to regain possession of the Constanza-Tchernavoda railroad line, seems again to hang in the balance.

Russo-Rumanian Advance
Russo-Rumanian troops are advancing from the north upon Field Marshal von Mackensen's left flank at Tchernavoda and other entente forces are close to the town along the route of the twelve mile long bridge and viaduct which spans the Danube and carry the railroad across the extensive marsh lands to the west of the main stream.

Sofia reports under Friday's date that Bulgarian artillery compelled entente troops which had advanced to the west bank of the Danube to "retreat toward Danubius."

Petograd on the other hand, yesterday announced the occupation of this town by the Russians, locating it two miles west of Tchernavoda, which is taken to mean that the Russians were approximately at the end of that portion of the bridge which spans the main stream.

Van Mackensen's Retreat
Unofficial advices from Bucharest today report von Mackensen's retreat in Dobrudja toward the Tchernavoda-Constanza railroad line continuing, which was observed in the direction of these two towns of the road in Dobrudja, this being held to indicate the possibility that their evacuation is imminent.

Fighting on Somme Front
Fighting on the Somme front in northern France has, with the return of more favorable weather conditions, apparently been resumed on an increasingly important scale.

Allied Successes
London announces the storming last night by British troops of the eastern portion of the Regina trench on the northern portion of the front, along a line more than half a mile in length. The French have been active south of the river where Berlin semi-officially admits they have scored some successes which are characterized, however, as insignificant. In this same region northeast of Chaubert Paris reports attack by the Germans last night in the Denticourt sector which is declared to have been repulsed by the French with heavy German losses.

Berlin Concedes Loss
Berlin, in today's official account of the Somme fighting, concedes penetration by the British of a small part of a German advanced trench northeast of Courcellette, but declares the French already repulsed in attacks on a wide front near Saluy-Saillies.

Further reports for the Germans in attacks on the Russians southeast of Leukberg is announced by Berlin, which chronicles the penetration of the Russian main position southwest of Poly-Kasnoles on the Narayuvka. The Russians, although reinforced, were defeated in repeated attempts to recapture the positions recently taken from them by the Baronovich sector north of the Pinsk marshes, the statement also declares.

Captured by Austro-Germans
Along the Transylvanian border of Rumania the Austro-German forces continue to progress, Berlin announcing the capture of several Rumanian positions in the Pradel region.

Apparently the entente forces south-west of Monastir in Macedonia have been making strong attacks on the German-Bulgarian positions but all the results are declared by Berlin to have been barren of result except in one sector, south of Polog, where an advanced position was entered.

RUSSIAN BOMBARDMENT OF ROMANIAN BLACK SEA PORT

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Russian bombardment of the Rumanian Black Sea port of Constanza is said by Reuters' Petrograd correspondent to have inflicted great damage. Bombs of heavy caliber and mortar bombs have been hurled at the port since the Russian fleet, based at Polog, where an advanced position was entered.

GERMAN ADMIRALTY'S STATEMENT ON ACHIL

BATTLE
BERLIN, Nov. 11, by wireless to Sayville.—The following announcement is from the admiralty:
"On the night of Nov. 9-10 hostile airships dropped bombs without success on Ostend and Zebrugge, (Belgium.) One British machine was forced down and captured and the aviator, a British officer, was made prisoner.

"On the morning of Nov. 10 a German battle plane attacked two British biplanes between Newport and Denkir. It shot down one and forced the other to retreat."

"In the forenoon three of our battle planes met a superior British aerial squadron off Ostend and attacked it immediately. After a combat the enemy was forced to withdraw. Our machines returned to their base, having suffered insignificant damages."

The British war office announced last night that 39 British airships had encountered a hostile squadron of 39 to 49 machines, which was dispersed after a battle during which six of the hostile machines were observed to begin to fall, out of control, although these were not seen to fall to the ground. Nine other German airships were said to have been driven down in damaged condition as a result of various encounters. The bombardment of Ostend and Zebrugge, it was announced, was attended with satisfactory results. Seven British machines were said to be missing.

BERLIN REPORTS ALLIED DRIVE ON SOMME HALTED

BERLIN, Nov. 11, by wireless to Sayville.—Berlin newspapers publish a statement from "competent military authorities" to the effect that the Anglo-French drive on the Somme has been halted by the exhaustion of the entente troops and their heavy losses and by unfavorable weather. The statement says:

"After the tremendous losses sustained by the British and French on Nov. 5, when they employed six British and four and one-half French divisions without success in an attempt to break our front between Le Sars and Baucourt, they have been unable to drive forward for large attacks their exhausted and decimated troops over ground made impracticable by rain. All attempts have been stifled immediately by the fire of our artillery and machine guns and only south of the Somme and Pressoire did the French obtain insignificant local successes."

"Attacks launched repeatedly on Wednesday in St. Pierre Vaast wood, although continued until late in the night, was crushed by the tenacious resistance of the German troops. With the clearing of the weather the artillery became more active but the British and French were unable to make a general attack."

"Fighting on Thursday resulted in isolated violent encounters near Encoeur, Pabbaye, Gueudecourt, Lesscourt and Pressoire, the entente attacks being stifled by the German fire. In the vicinity of Saluy-Saillies fierce fighting was renewed. French storming columns made powerful attacks and were repulsed in sanguinary hand to hand fighting. About Pressoire the fighting continued until evening when it ended without success for the French."

"Among 17 hostile airships shot down on the western front was one large battle plane provided with two motors and three machine guns. The airships carried three men. We captured it undamaged."

NEW WAGE AGREEMENT FOR BAY STATE CARMEN

Never before has such a liberal working agreement been offered to employees of the Bay State street railway as the one presented to members of the union all over the system for acceptance or rejection at a meeting held last evening. It will affect 6000 employees of the company which controls lines from Newbury, N. I. to Nashua, N. H. Wage increases, better hours, and numerous other concessions are granted. While the vote on the new agreement has not yet been announced, local men are of the opinion that it will be practically unanimously accepted, and that it will be signed at a meeting of representatives of the union and the company this afternoon.

Wage increases of four cents an hour; pay for nine hours to operators of cars working eight and one-half hours; and wages for eight and one-half hours to operators of cars working only eight hours are among the provisions in the new agreement.

Fred Crowley, president of the local union and chairman of the joint conference board, was one of the fathers of the agreement. His efforts in this and other matters in behalf of the carmen have entailed considerable work, but never has he failed to do his best for those who have selected him as their representative. At the meetings held by the local union last night, after which the men voted on the agreement, great enthusiasm was shown, and when Mr. Crowley entered the room, he was accorded an ovation. Later in the night the men presented him a box of cigars.

The joint committee, which drew up the agreement, has been meeting since Sept. 30. The former agreement expired on October 1 of this year. Fred Crowley of Lowell, P. F. Sheehan of Brockton and John Reardon, of the executive board of the international union represented the union men, while the company was represented by Robert S. Goff.

In the agreement it is provided that in the event of the union and company being unable to agree on a third member of their arbitration board that Pres. Sullivan of the road and one of the international officers shall have the naming of the third member.

The features of the agreement in condensed form are:

Increases along the line are provided for, applying to all employees of the road except clerks in the accounting departments.

Conductors on snow plows are to receive an increase of five cents, or 45 cents an hour. The present wage is 40 cents. Motormen on snow plows will continue to get 45 cents an hour, as heretofore.

Men employed at instructing beginners are to receive four cents an hour instead of three cents in addition to their regular wage.

The company is to pay 15 cents for reports of accidents. Instead of 10 cents, as formerly.

Men operating cars eight hours are to receive wages for eight and one-half hours.

Men operating cars eight and one-half hours are to receive wages for nine hours.

Sec. 2. On October 1st of each year the company shall post a list in the different divisions of the road of the names of men who desire snow plow work to sign for same. This list shall close Oct. 12. If an insufficient number of men are named, or if any signers are unqualified or otherwise disqualified for snow plow work, the necessary number may be added by the superintendent, but shall not be rated behind the men who signed the posted list, but no employees shall be assigned against their wishes while juniors are available. On Oct. 15 the company shall post a list of all men entitled to snow plow work, and at the same time a list of the different routes, with the number of plows to be used on each, which choice may be made by routes in accordance with seniority, as above provided. Such men when employed as foremen on snow plows shall be paid at the rate of forty-five (45) cents per hour, and all other conductors and motormen employed on snow plow work shall be paid at the rate of forty (40) cents per hour; the same rate to apply to men operating cars pushing plows other than cars in passenger service, which must be done one hour or less, and cars during snow storms, and conductors and motormen leveling with flat cars, horse-drawn levelers and snow removers, and when available unless prevented by controlling emergency, the first men entitled to plows which are going out shall be called at all times, and shall be paid for first and alternate crews of not less than three men for each plow. When practicable, running periods shall not exceed twelve (12) hours for either crew. All leveling, cleaning of burnouts and similar work after storms shall be performed by the men who have selected the plow, and the same is to be done, except as to the amount and character of the work and the time to be consumed may justly be held doing otherwise, seniority to govern. All other snow work shall be given according to seniority of service, and conductors and motormen shall receive the same rate of pay for all circumstances do not admit of their doing their regular and customary work. In no case will a man be required to do more than six consecutive hours of snow work without time off for meals, which, when rendered necessary by the exigencies of the work, shall be furnished by the company. Men not listed for snow plow work, but called for report, while held for orders, other than their regular hours, shall be paid snow plow wages.

Paid for Accident Reports

Sec. 4. When conductors or motormen are required to lose time in looking up an accident, or in making reports in accident cases before completion of their regular day's work, they shall be paid their regular rating, and for all other reports shall be paid fifteen (15) cents each.

Signed statements required of employees shall be paid for as accident reports.

Sec. 5. When any conductor or motorman has been suspended or discharged and the association feels after a careful investigation that the discharge or suspension has been done unjustly, it shall have the right to take the case up, first with the division superintendent, and if that cannot reach satisfactory adjustment with the division superintendent, it shall have the right to appeal the case to the general superintendent, who in all matters upon the written request of employees in the agreed-upon form heretofore adopted, shall furnish the officer or officers of the association with the reason for suspension or discharge, together with a copy of all the documentary evidence pertaining thereto; and if it cannot reach a satisfactory adjustment with the division superintendent, it shall have the right to appeal the case successively to the general manager, his representative, and to arbitration, respectively, within ten (10) days. And if it is determined that such employee was unjustly suspended or discharged, he shall be reinstated in his position, and shall be paid for all time lost. Provided, however, that the provisions of arbitration above referred to shall not apply to conductors and motormen employed the first six months of employment.

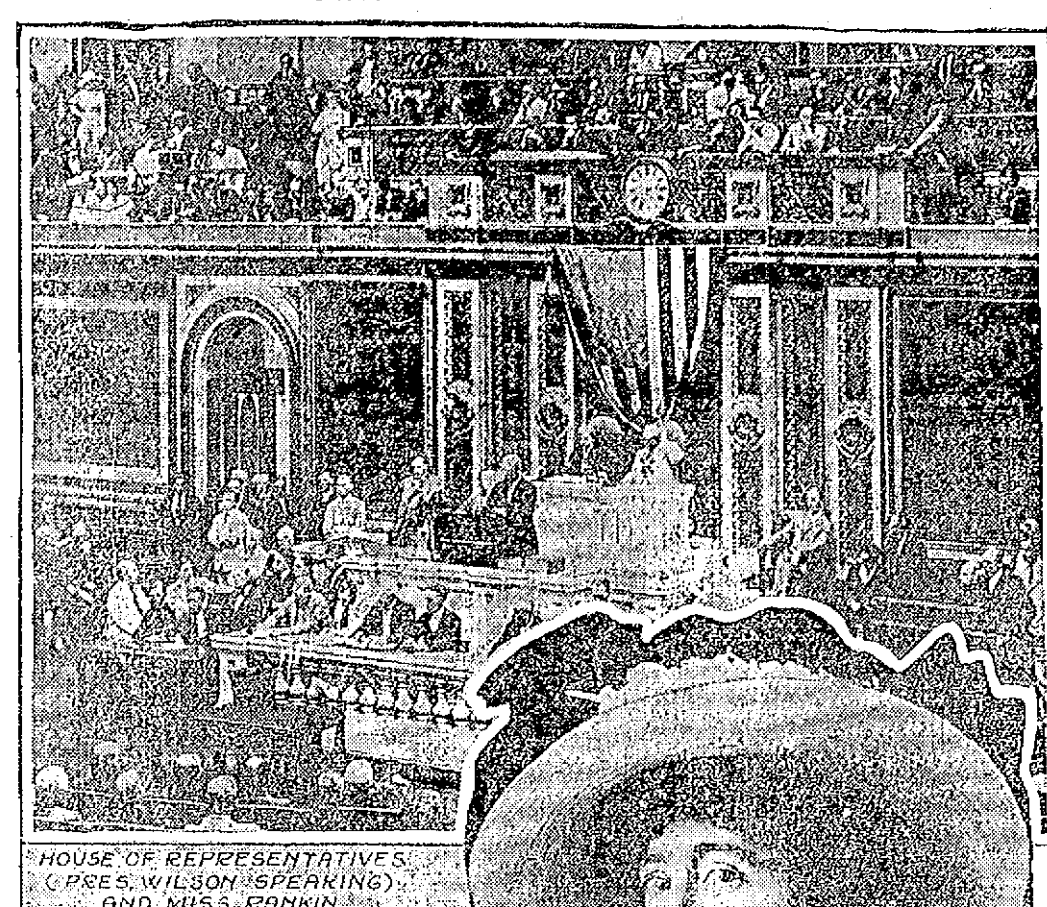

The company agrees to adopt a duplicate card system of record of discipline, the superior, and employ each holding one. Similar records of discipline administered shall be made thereon. The employee may defend or comment entered thereon.

General superintendent's conferences shall be held locally in the division concerned.

Sec. 8. The company shall provide a book for conductors and motormen in which to register their names and dates they respectively were on duty, but not more than seven days prior thereto. First on the list to have preference except as to Sundays, which shall be on a rotating basis. Same to apply to all other employees if they so desire. Men who are off duty Thanksgiving day forfeit their claim to be on Christmas day until all who have worked Thanksgiving day, desiring to be, have been listed off. This book shall be kept in the office of the foreman, where men may sign, but only accredited officers of the association shall be allowed in case of dispute to examine the book. Leave of absence, illness or absence from the country excepted, shall be limited to thirty (30) consecutive days in any three months.

Sec. 10. The company agrees to furnish to each of its employees free transportation over the division, north and south respectively, in which such

WOMAN HAS SEAT IN CONGRESS, FIRST TIME IN THE NATION'S HISTORY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES (PRES. WILSON SPEAKING) AND MISS RANKIN

Miss Jeannette Rankin, elected to the national house of representatives from Montana, is a source of particular pride to the National Suffrage association, inasmuch as she was for a number of years one of its most valued organizers and the standard bearer who carried her state for suffrage. She is a republican in politics. Jeannette Rankin is a member of a well-to-do banker's family of Missoula, Mont. In 1908 she was graduated from the New York School of Philanthropy, went to Seattle, Wash., fitted a position of "baby place" for a year, found that wasn't her meller and quit finding ideal homes for infants to join the women's fighters in Washington. She stumped and organized in the Washington campaign and received no remuneration. "It was for the cause," she said in referring to it. She became later the field secretary of the National Woman Suffrage association. House listening to President Wilson and Miss Rankin in pictures.

MESSAGES OF CONGRATULATION MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 11.—Messages of congratulation from suffragists in many parts of the country poured into Missoula yesterday for Miss Jeannette Rankin, republican, the first woman to be elected to congress. Miss Rankin's campaign managers contend that she had been successful by at least 2000 majority.

"I felt that the women would stand by me," Miss Rankin said yesterday. "It is wonderful to me to think of having the opportunity of being the first woman to sit in congress with 334 men."

JAPAN AND FRANCE GLAD PRES. WILSON WON

TOKIO, Nov. 11.—The re-election of President Wilson is welcomed by the Japanese press, which praises his peaceful disposition and believes his continuation in office augurs well for the furtherance of American-Japanese friendship. Business circles are pleased as they feared a republican protective tariff would be a blow to Japanese exports to America.

FRANCE LIKES RESULT PARIS, Nov. 11.—The newspapers, while giving prominence to the news of the American election express little opinion as to the result. What comment there is, is sympathetic to President Wilson.

The Petit Journal says: "President Wilson's victory is highly satisfactory to us for two reasons. The first is that for four years American foreign policies will be free from all electoral considerations as the constitution forbids President Wilson from seeking a third term; the second reason is that the result of the election must put new life into American neutrality. Evidently an immense majority of the electorate pronounced against war, but apart from the millions of voters who approved the vigor with which the president forced the Germans to accept the submarine war question, other millions voted for Hughes because he demanded an even firmer defense of American rights. The chief executive is obliged to take into account this double wish. Just as Hughes could not have ignored the verdict against war, so Wilson must take into consideration the condemnation of a line of policy which Roosevelt has characterized as "backboneless."

The Nation and the Parisian express the same view. The latter concludes: "It is because he played a very honorable role in a moment of a grave crisis that the American people have renewed their mandate to President Wilson."

LONDON TRIBUTE TO WILSON LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Manchester Guardian attributes President Wilson's success to the rallying of a sufficient number of the progressive votes which Roosevelt gained in 1912.

"It seems a small thing," this newspaper continues, "but yet it may indicate a new epoch in American political life. The progressive movement arose entirely independently of foreign politics. Many progressive votes given to Wilson are given with the mental reservation that they will not go again to a democratic candidate unless Wilson confirms the faith of the progressives by consolidating what is still only tentative, and that he will have established himself as the ablest statesman since Lincoln, and he may be destined to play a part in the achievement of peace which will give him a place in world history."

Sec. 21. This agreement and the provisions thereof shall go into effect on the 1st day of October, 1916, and shall be binding upon the Bay State Street Railway company and upon said association, and the said several local divisions thereof, and upon all persons who are now or who at any time hereafter during the continuance of the present agreement are members thereof, and shall remain in full force up to and including May 1st, 1920, and thereafter unless either party notifies the other party in writing not less than thirty days prior to said May 1st, 1920, and each three years thereafter, of any desired change or changes in any section or sections.

WILLIAM M. FAIRBANKS OF J. C. AYER CO. DEAD

Mr. Fairbanks was well and favorably known in this city, having had entire charge of the advertising department of the J. C. Ayer Co. for 20 years. In business circles throughout New England Mr. Fairbanks was well known and highly esteemed. The death of his wife a short time ago preyed upon his mind and untimely hastened his end. He had proved himself a very efficient advertising manager during his years of service with the Ayer company and none regrets his untimely demise more than Dr. Stowell, manager of the Ayer company's business. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday.

MCCORMICK HINTED FOR SECRETARY OF WAR

The New York Sun today prints the following: Political gossip yesterday had it pretty well settled that Vance C. McCormick, democratic national chairman, is to be taken into President Wilson's cabinet as secretary of war to succeed Newton D. Baker, who has announced that he will resign March 4th.

When this subject was broached to Mr. McCormick he followed the usual custom of successful campaign managers and vigorously denied that he
